Denial Is Made of Aid Blame

Dept. Say Persons Seek Good Living

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Welfare Department said today it was untrue that New York State attracted persons seeking to become public charges.

The department issued a detailed statement on welfare policies amidst widespread criticism of several phases of public assistance programs.

There have been renewed demands in several quarters for a residency law under which newcomers to the state would have to wait one year before becoming eligible for public relief.

View Called Untrue

Supporters of such a law say it would deter persons from coming to the state with the intention of being supported at public expense.

The welfare department said in its statement that New York gave emergency hospital treatment and provided for children and families who were in need but had not lived in the state for at least one year.

Because of this aid, the department declared, "some people think New York State is a magnet that draws relief-seekers from all over the country. This is untrue. The facts prove otherwise."

Reasons Given

The department said in the statement:

Studies show that residence laws neither attract nor deter people from moving to a specific state. They move for better economic opportunities, living conditions, climate or to join relatives and friends.

An average 1,300,000 persons enter New York State each month. This includes visitors and persons who plan to settle. Of the total, an average 7,729 a month—6,000 of them in New York City—need aid for varying periods of time.

Figures Quoted

The state spent $327,347,000 on all public welfare in 1957. Of that amount, 1.8 percent—$5,981,000—went to support persons in the state for less than a year. The money was spent for hospital and institutional care and other aid.

Many Negroes and Puerto Ricans migrate and members of those groups appear "in substantial numbers among the needy nonresidents."

The department said that the great majority of Negroes and Puerto Ricans were self-supporting, productive, taxpaying residents of their communities.

The report said that Puerto Rican workers were sought for jobs in many service trades, such as restaurant and hotel work.

Cite Earnings

"In Upstate New York," the department said, "the state's one-billion-dollar agricultural economy is dependent upon the use of seasonal, migrant workers, chiefly Negroes."

The welfare department said studies indicated that Puerto Rican wage earners in New York City earned 575 million dollars a year and paid taxes that possibly ranged to 90 million dollars.

Negroes in the New York City area, the report said, earned close to $1,200,000,000 and paid taxes estimated at $160,000,000.

The welfare department stated that residence requirements for welfare aid could impose on private hospitals and institutions a burden that could overload such facilities to a point where they would be unable to operate.

23 Prelates Formally Elevated to Cardinal

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today formally elevated the archbishops of Philadelphia and Boston and 21 other Roman Catholic prelates to the rank of cardinal.

Twenty-three of the 51 other princes of the church, meeting in secret consistory at the Vatican, gave their silent assent to the Pope's action, confirming the choices he had announced Nov. 17.

Now 74 Members

The pontiff, himself crowned supreme ruler of the church only last month, increased the membership of the Sacred College to 74 and gave the world's half-billion members of the church their broadest representation ever in the high senate body.

Elevation of the new cardinals broke the limit of 70 set for the college by Pope Sixtus V in 1586.

In his address to the Sacred College telling of his choices, the pontiff called particular attention to the persecution of Catholics by the Communist regime in China. Missionaries have been expelled and many archbishops and bishops, "full of zeal and courage, are in prison, or restricted or impeded in the free exercise of their pastoral ministry," he said.

"The clergy and faithful have become the target of blandishments, menaces, physical and moral tortures," the Pope continued, in order to force them "to break the bond of obedience and love which links them with the See of Peter."

Declaration of Sorrow

"Unfortunately," he went on, "we have to declare with sorrow that there are not wanting some who, fearing the orders of men more than the sacred judgment of God, have so far yielded to the commands of persecutors as to accept sacrilegious episcopal consecration from which no power of jurisdiction can be derived since it was conferred without the mandate of the Holy See."

Pope John asked the Catholic bishops of the world to arrange for "public occasions of prayer and penance" to beseech God to "enlighten the minds of those who are going astray" and to "give strength or will" to all the Catholics of China.

MORE

After the consistory, papal messengers went out from the Vatican to notify the new cardinals officially of their elevation.

The two Americans, Richard James Cushing, 63, of Boston, and John F. O'Hara, 70, Philadelphia, received the word at the North American Pontifical College, high on Rome's Janiculum Hill. Also notified with them was Amleto Cicognani, whose elevation ended his 26-year tenure as apostolic delegate to the United States.

Get Hats Wednesday

The new cardinals will receive their red birettas—square-shaped, close-fitting hats and a symbol of office—at a semipublic consistory in the Vatican Wednesday.

On Thursday will come the climactic public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica, when the Pope will present the broad-brimmed galeros, the special red hat of the office, to the new princes of the church.

Two of the new cardinals were not in Rome and will not participate in the ceremonies this week. Joseph Bueno y Monreal, archbishop of Seville, will receive his notification and red hat from Gen-

Oswego Snowfall For Month Same As All Last Winter

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP) — This Northern New York community measured a full winter's snowfall today, seven days before the official beginning of that season.

A U. S. Weather Bureau observer said 88 inches of snow had fallen here this month. The snowfall for all of last winter was 88 inches.

4 Inches Saturday

Squalls off Lake Ontario added four inches over Saturday night to help produce the new total.

Snow, ranging from flurries to squalls, was on tap today for much of the state, including Oswego.

Temperatures remained generally low, but nowhere near the readings of 20 and 30 below of last week.

A coastal storm left a little over an inch of snow on the New York City area before it petered out into flurries.

Squalls Off Erie

It was clear and cold in Oswego overnight, while Western New York reported heavy snow squalls off Lake Erie.

A total of six inches fell in Northern Erie County. More was expected.

Oswego police reported Sunday night that that city of 23,000 was winning its fight against the incessant battering by snowstorms that paralyzed it much of last week.

Shoppers Jam Stores

Most streets were opened and downtown stores were jammed over the weekend with Christmas shoppers rushing to make up for lost time.

Schools re-open today. Most fac-

Ashby Requests Removal Until Charges Are Heard

Burglar Tools Hold One Youth

Men Say Innocent To Entering House

A youth who attempted to run from the scene of an alleged burglary try was charged with possessing burglary tools, and two men were booked on burglary counts Sunday.

Lawton Thomas Gavin Jr., 17, of 84 Bruyn Avenue, caught on North Front near Joy's Lane after Officer Thomas Kearney fired a warning shot in pursuit, was held on the burglary tools charge.

A plea of innocent was entered by the court today when he appeared before City Judge Aaron E. Klein, and the case was put over to Wednesday to permit him time to obtain counsel. Bail was set at $100 because he is now under heavier bail due to an earlier arrest.

Two Others Held

Fred J. Schiskey, 43, of 12 Field Court, and Wilbur Turck, 31, of 51 O'Neil Street, who were booked Sunday morning on third degree burglary charges, were arraigned yesterday shortly after they were arrested, and their cases were put over to Tuesday morning. Bail was fixed at $500 each.

Their arrest followed an investigation at a vacant Downs Street house, where a stove and hot water unit were reported missing. Officers George Dougherty and Sheldon O'Rourke investigated.

Items Listed

Information on Gavin, read in court today, indicated that wrenches, a lock pick, pliers, and a knife were allegedly found in his possession. Other items were held at police headquarters pending further investigation.

It was indicated that Gavin late last night was in the vicinity of the Franz Rambler Sales, Inc., 112 North Front Street, when he was spotted by Officer Kearney. It was charged that he had been in a lot there, and that he "ran, failed to stop, and give a satisfactory account of himself."

Officers Guernsey Burger Sr., and William Snyder were dispatched in a patrol car to pick up Gavin after he had been caught by Kearney.

To Be Quizzed Futher

Gavin is under $2,500 bail, dating back to Dec. 10, 1957. He is charged with having entered the Bernie Singer Store, North Front Street, Nov. 2, 1957, and is booked on unlawful entry and third degree burglary charges.

Police indicated that Gavin was to be questioned to determine if he is to be booked on other charges.

Mylus William, 35, of 15 West Strand, who was arrested early Sunday by Florence Peterson, of 19 Ann Street, on a third degree assault charge, pleaded guilty today before Judge Klein. He was given the choice of paying a $50 fine or spending 25 days in jail, was placed on probation for six months, and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. The fine was due to be paid.

The complainant charged that he had struck her in the head at a downtown tavern.

Allies Facing Critical Disputes Within Group

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PARIS (AP)—Reassured that the Western Big Three will stand fast against Soviet pressure on West Berlin, the North Atlantic Allies turned today to critical disputes within the alliance.

The agreement Sunday on Berlin by the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States led off a week of formal conferences vital to Western Europe's future.

Insist on Free Access

A communique said the Big Three foreign ministers "reaffirmed the determination of their governments to maintain their position and their rights with respect to Berlin, including the right of free access."

The statement rejected the Soviet proposal to give the East German Communist regime control of Allied traffic with West Berlin. In effect, the ministers ruled out suggestions that the West deal with the East Germans as agents of the Russians.

Silent on Reply

The three ministers — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd — gave no indication of what counterproposals they would make in reply to the Soviet note of Nov. 27.

But they said they were agreed on the basic issues to be covered in their replies. They said they would consult with the other NATO allies in the NATO Council meeting beginning Tuesday and then would formulate their notes to the Soviets.

What Soviets Want

Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Soviet note said the Soviets were withdrawing from the four-power occupation of Berlin. He proposed that West Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, be made a demilitarized free city.

Would Send Troops

The Western refusal to deal with the East Germans apparently left no alternative but force to insure access to the city if the Russians go ahead with the transfer of communication controls. The Russians have said they would constitute aggression against East Germany and that Soviet troops would go to the satellite regime's aid in accordance with the Warsaw Pact.

The new fire police classes were requested by the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County Inc.

Dennis Hurley of the Division of Safety will be the instructor.

It was announced at last week's meeting of the association held at Milton that all volunteer fire policemen are invited to attend the classes. Each man receiving a mark of 75 per cent or better will receive a diploma.

The association announced that its first annual past presidents dinner will be held April 19. Further information will be forwarded to members by mail.

The next regular association meeting will be held at Ulster Hose Company firehouse, February 11.

Confident He'll Be Cleared

Juries in Charge Of W. B. Tongue

Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors Edwin W. Ashby, indicted last week on a first degree perjury charge by the special grand jury investigating alleged kickbacks in Ulster county, appeared before the Ulster County Jury Board on Saturday and requested he be disqualified from further performance of his duties pending disposition of the charges against him.

The Jury Board unanimously adopted a resolution disqualifying Ashby and suspended him without pay for such a period.

Tongue Takes Over

Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue was then appointed acting Commissioner of Jurors at the pleasure of the board.

A report of the action taken by the Ulster County Jury Board was sent to Sydney F. Foster, presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court and a copy was also sent to Senator Bernard Tompkins, special assistant attorney general in charge of the investigation.

Charged With Perjury

Ashby was named in a sealed indictment returned last Thursday. He was charged with perjury in connection with testimony given before the special grand jury in relation to checks totaling some $19,000 which it is alleged he received from the late Frank Buckley of Troy, dealer in snow removal equipment. Ashby told the grand jury the money was paid for "bird-dogging," or giving Buckley information as to where equipment could be sold in the county. Later this testimony was contradicted.

The special grand jury sent a communication to the Ulster County Jury Board, which is composed of Supreme Court Justices Harry E. Schirick, Roscoe V. Elsworth and Supervisor Jesse McHugh of Shawangunk, questioning Ashby's "fitness" to serve. After conferring,

Camera Fan, Five Spectators Killed In Second Blast

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A darkroom technician who wanted to be a newspaper photographer stopped on his way home from work to take pictures of a gas main explosion. Minutes later, he and five other curious spectators lost their lives in a second blast.

Lester S. Kraft Jr. 29, a camera bug hired last September by the Allentown Call-Chronicle, was driving home late Saturday night after work. As he reached the outskirts of this southeastern Pennsylvania city, he saw a huge jet of flaming gas shoot up through the street paving from a broken main.

Blast Rips Building

He parked and ran with his camera to the front porch of the 120-year-old Mountainville Hotel, a good spot from which to see the spectacular fire. Others also had gathered on the porch, or near it, to watch.

Minutes later the second explosion ripped the building apart. Tons of brick and stone buried the six victims. Twenty-three others were injured, two critically.

The second blast was followed by a series of lesser explosions as leaking gas ignited in the streets around the hotel.

The operators of the hotel, actually a tavern with living quarters on the second floor, were Mr. and Mrs. George Andresack. Mrs. Andresack's timely warning to some 50 patrons probably kept the death toll down.

"I went to the cellar door after I smelled gas and when I opened it, the odor was very heavy," she said.

"I yelled to the patrons to put out their cigarettes and get out because I was afraid of an explosion.

Just in Time

Moments after the bar patrons left, the hotel was destroyed.

In addition to Kraft, the dead were William Gruber and Perry Miller, both 16, who had just left a nearby roller skating rink; William MacLean; Walter Leitger, 37, and Maynard Haebner, 39, all of Allentown.

No Relief Apparent Today From Cold Clutching East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

December's spell of severe cold weather still clutched the Eastern two-thirds of the nation today. There appeared little or no general relief immediately.

The steady stream of arctic air from Canada kept pushing into the midlands and spreading south and eastward, dipping into the Gulf region. Adding to the unseasonable cold was heavy snow throughout the area, even in sections of the Southeast.

The cold and snow has plagued the Midwest for more than a week, but winter doesn't officially start until next Monday.

Chicago, like other Midwest cities, has had zero or below zero temperatures six times since the start of the cold wave. It was—7 early today, with lower marks in suburban areas.

The coldest weather was confined to the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and western sections of the Great Lakes region. Temperatures were mostly below zero and as low as 10 to 15 below in many places.

It was zero as far south as Fayetteville, Ark., as the icy air knifed into the South.

It was warmer in parts of northwestern Montana than in sections of Alabama and Louisiana.

Strike in Sixth Day

Mediator Says Newspaper Picture Is 'Not Bright'

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph F. Finnegan, top national mediator, today termed New York City's newspaper strike picture "not a bright one."

Finnegan, national director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, talked with newsmen after a breakfast meeting with Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The six - day - old newspaper strike of deliverers has cut off publication of the city's nine major dailies.

Finnegan said he would hold separate meetings with deliverers union representatives and those of the Publishers Assn. of New York City, with the aim of setting up a joint session between the parties later today.

"The severe losses which the publishers have sustained have resulted in their taking a pretty stiff attitude," Finnegan said.

A publishers' spokesman said the papers would not resume publication until the deliverymen returned to work. The announcement followed an offer from more than 2,000 printers, members of the New York Typographical Union Local 6, to return to work.

Printers at the Daily News plant refused to cross a deliverymen's picket line and the paper was unable to run its Thursday morning editions.

All the papers suspended publication after Thursday editions of the three other morning papers, the Herald Tribune, the Mirror and the Times, were printed.

The afternoon papers are the Journal-American, Post, World-Telegram and Sun, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal.

The union originally asked for a $10 wage-increase package, plus various holiday, sickness and vacation benefits and a 35-hour work week.

The basic wage was $103.82 for a 40-hour week in the contract that expired last Sunday.

The publishers have stuck by their offer of a $7 weekly pay boost spread over two years.

Diver Coming To Help Raise Reliance Tug

An experienced diver is due to arrive here tonight to assist in the raising of the Tugboat Margaret Feeney, which sank in the Rondout Creek Saturday morning off the property of the Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp., 615 Abeel Street, after apparently having been ripped by ice.

The sinking was the second tugboat mishap in the area in two days. One owned by Thomas J. Brown and Son, Staten Island, was beached south of Rhinecliff Friday after springing leaks apparently due to heavy ice.

Bernard A. Feeney, an official at Reliance, said the Margaret Feeney, 90 by 22 feet, went down at about 7:30 a. m.; Saturday. The cause of its sinking has not been determined, he said, but it is believed due to ice in the creek. It sails the river between New York City and the Barge Canal.

Although ice in the creek is less than four inches thick, Feeney said, it appears to be exceptionally hard this year. The tug came in Friday night.

Capt. Joseph Brown, of the 56-foot Staten Island tug, Fred Craemer, said it was planned to attempt bringing the boat to the Kingston side of the river Saturday for repairs, but it was indicated that the plan failed and it was finally repaired to the point where it could be towed down the river.

Brown and a crewman were aboard when the tug's seams opened and the engine room began to flood. Some of the ice chunks it plowed through, it was reported, were a foot thick. The tug had taken a tow to Coxsackie and was returning home when it was beached.

Why We Say--

LATIN: The month of November actually means the ninth month of the year in Latin. Early calenders used March as the first month of the year. In 153 B.C. January was made the first month of year but the months had already been named, thus November as the eleventh month actually remained the ninth month in Latin.

Cornerstone of Constitution

Bill of Rights Effected 167 Years Ago This Date

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bill of Rights — the first 10 amendments to the Constitution — went into effect 167 years ago today.

It not only guaranteed certain rights and freedoms but was the cornerstone for amendments added to the Constitution later.

On this anniversary Americans, priding themselves on the principles of their democratic society, can ask themselves individually:

1. Do I really believe in the rights and freedoms—for all men—guaranteed by the Constitution?

2. Or is it only freedom for me I believe in—including freedom to deprive others of it when I disagree with them or dislike them?

Here are some rights and freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights:

Freedom of speech, religion and the press; freedom from being placed on trial twice for the same offense; freedom from being compelled to testify against yourself in a criminal case; the right to trial by jury; the right to confront a witness against you.

No Slavery Ban

Even the framers of the Constitution did not believe in equal freedom for all men living under their democratic society. They put no ban on slavery.

That did not come till later, many decades later, after great changes in American thinking. The same with the right of all Americans — born or naturalized —to vote.

By asking yourself a few questions, you can test your devotion to the principle of equal rights and freedom for all men.

Say you are a member of a certain religious faith:

Would you, if you could, deny to any or all other religious groups and sects, and atheists, the right to say or write publicly what they think?

If you are an atheist, would you deny that right to people of religious beliefs?

On Voting

You cherish the right to vote: Would you deny that same right to some other individual or group —Negroes, for instance—because you dislike them or fear their eventual political power?

You may hate communism but there is no law against being a Communist.

Would you, who prize freedom of the spoken and written word, deny a Communist the right to say in public what he thinks, even though it is critical of the American government?

The Constitution's Fifth Amendment guarantees a man the right to refuse to answer a question which he thinks might incriminate him.

Would you deny a man—any man, ranging from a ganster to a Communist—the use of the Fifth Amendment to avoid saying something which might incriminate him?

All the questions come down to this basic one:

Is any man ever free or secure under his constitutional guarantees if another man can be deprived of them because of mass hysteria, group pressure or things like racial or religious prejudice?

If it happens to one man today, tomorrow it can happen to the man who did it to him, since all that is needed is a change in majorities, emotions or group attitudes.

Six Firemen Hurt Fighting $80,000 Blaze in Waverly

WAVERLY, N. Y. (AP) — Six firemen were injured in fighting a fire that swept two downtown business buildings Sunday.

Fire Chief Stanley Timm suffered a wrenched back when he slipped on ice and five other firefighters were cut by glass.

The fire broke out in a workshop at the rear of a two-story brick building on Waverly Street in this Tioga County community. That building, occupied by an electrical appliance store, was gutted.

The flames spread to an adjoining building that housed a meat market on the first floor and an apartment on the second. That building was damaged heavily.

A third structure suffered smoke and water damage. It was occupied on the first floor by the boys' section of a department store and on the second by an Odd Fellows meeting room.

About 250 firemen fought in near-zero temperatures for two hours to control the flames.

Timm estimated damage at $75,000 to $80,000.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

We prize our freedoms so greatly that we often tend to think of them as absolute privileges upon which no restrictions ever can be placed. But this is not so, as we have just learned again in a new action by the Supreme Court.

It is well known that freedom of speech has limitations. Men are not free to defame each other, or to incite to riot, or to teach the overthrow of this country's government.

Freedom of the press, always jealously guarded by the press itself, has seemed less hedged about. Any effort at infringement inevitably has been staunchly resisted.

But in the case of Marie Torre, New York Herald Tribune TV columnist, the federal courts declare this freedom, like some others, to be less than absolute.

Miss Torre refused to disclose a news source on the ground that to do so would constitute an abridgement of a free press. The matter was of importance because the unidentified comment formed a basis of a charge of libel by actress Judy Garland against a radio-TV network.

In refusing to review her case, the Supreme Court in effect supported the reasoning the federal appeals court applied in its decision against her.

That court, with Justice Potter Stewart (now on the high court) writing the opinion, acknowledged that freedom of the press is indeed "precious and vital" to a free society.

But he went on to argue that society has an even greater interest in the "fair administration of justice." The need for a free press, he indicated, must be balanced, in any particular instance, against the need for a fair trial.

It is to be noted that Stewart did not say the requirements of justice automatically compel the disclosure of news sources in every matter. This is a question of placing two vital needs against each other, and judging in each specific instance where the maximum service to a free citizenry lies.

This issue is controversial and will be debated long. But none who cherish a free press will want to deny that justice is now and always must be an overriding goal for all free men. Indeed, that is the very purpose of a free press.

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin says the Russians are perhaps planning to send a man into space inside their next earth satellite. We think it only fair that this great honor should go to Khrushchev.

NOT RUNNING, BUT . . .

The thought will not down that Adlai Stevenson, twice defeated Democratic candidate for president, will do a William Jennings Bryan and try again. The former Illinois governor says he has had enough and wants no part of it. But there could be many changes between now and 1960.

Stevenson is not a candidate. The memory of his hard campaigning in state preferential primaries prior to the 1956 convention is bound to keep him from actively seeking the nomination. But in the event of a stalemate the convention might well turn to Stevenson. Jacob M. Avery, Illinois national committeeman, sees this as a definite possibility. So does Gov.-elect David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania.

The civil rights issue, sure to grow in intensity, works in Stevenson's favor. By convention time the South may regard him as the most likely moderate on the question. Also, much may happen in the meantime to tarnish the luster of Senators Kennedy and Symington, two of the most powerful aspirants to the Democratic nomination.

Those two face the hazard of voting in the Senate, and their votes may alienate support. Stevenson has no such worry. It also is true that the political road seldom runs from Senate to White House. The last senator to become president by direct election was Warren G. Harding There are no certainties in this situation, but it would not be surprising to find Stevenson leading his party again in 1960.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Historically, the Democratic Party consisted of three general elements:

1. The Solid South;

2. The newer immigrants (at different times, Irish, German, Italian, Jewish);

3. The poorer farmers, particularly those who favored Populism in its demand for cheap money.

Franklin D. Roosevelt brought into the Democratic Party the most radical elements in the country, including labor union leaders and the socialistic intellectuals.

The Democratic victory of 1958 cannot be defined as a product of any one of these elements but that it occurred is sufficient for politicians and Democratic National Committee Chairman, Paul Butler, is taking advantage of the situation to attempt to assert a leadership of his party which has not heretofore been the role of a National Committee Chairman. The test of strength among Paul Butler and Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson will come when Congress opens. Butler's effectiveness can only be proved in Congress and if the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee has to attack the Democratic leadership in Congress, it is not altogether impossible that a third party may result.

The Northern Democrats have, of course, seized upon the name of Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas, as the devil whom they must fight, just as in an earlier period the Modern Republicans used the name of Senator Joe McCarthy as a rallying cry for the reorganization of the Republican Party. The mistake made by the Modern Republicans was that not only did they eliminate McCarthy but they split the Republican Party so that it cannot easily be put together again.

As any observer knows, Faubus does not lead the white population of the South. Such Democratic leaders as Sam Rayburn, Lyndon Johnson, Harry Byrd, Richard Russell and other committee chairmen in both the Senate and House are not dominated by Faubus. On the other hand, the assumption of the radical Northern Democrats that they can afford to read the South out of the Democratic Party is without statistical foundation.

When 1960 comes along, the question will be whether the Democratic Party can produce a candidate for President who will defeat the Republican candidate. Personalities will play a great role in this picture. For instance, if the radical Democrats were to nominate Adlai Stevenson, let us say, against Nixon or Rockefeller, the likelihood is that Stevenson, the cynical world-traveller, would be defeated by the dynamism of such men. On the other hand, suppose the inflation has become so wickedly spiral as to drive the economy into the madness which inflations produce, what effect will that have upon the election? The country will seek a sober, studious man to rescue it from its own greed and stupidity.

What gives Butler such blatant courage is the fact that the Republican Party seems to be dead. It has had a hard time since 1932, largely because the businessmen imposed their candidates upon the party. Such candidates as Landon and Willkie could never have been elected. Tom Dewey might have been. Robert A. Taft might have been. At any rate, when Eisenhower became President, he turned to political mavericks with the result that in his first term, he weakened his party; in his second term, he had not the time to correct his error.

However, even if the Republican Party were to disappear, the millions of men and women who do not hold moderate socialistic views are bound sooner or later to coalesce into a political force. If there were only 100 such persons in this country an organization would appear. Actually all over the country committees and organizations are coming into existence to revitalize the Republican Party. Thus far not one has been sufficiently effective to capture the imagination of the older Republicans, many of whom even stay away from the polls, abstaining from exercising their constitutional rights.

Butler's error in ignoring the Southern bulwark of his party is that he bases too much on the 1958 election which was for Senators, Representatives and Governors but not for a President. Local issues prevailed. For instance, no one can reach any conclusion about the Republican or Democratic Party in New York State. The same is true of the defeat of William Knowland in California. Butler seems to be in a hurry to jump to conclusions. Meanwhile, he may be smashing his own party.

Sensitive Hands Must Be Careful to Avoid Irritating Substances

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Allergy takes many forms and creates a great deal of trouble for an enormous number of people.

Q—My hands break out in tiny white blisters which fill with water whenever I peel tomatoes or acid fruits. This also happens when I use too much bleach or detergent. They itch terribly. What can be done?—Mrs. G. H.

A—In all probability you are sensitive or allergic to contact with the substances named. The only reasonable solution is either to avoid coming in contact with anything which brings about these blisters or to protect your hands by wearing rubber or plastic gloves at such times as are needed.

However, you must be sure that you are not sensitive, or do not develop sensitivity, to the material in the gloves.

Q—Would you say something about an enlarged heart? I have been told that my heart is enlarged and I have been put on a strict salt-free diet,—Mrs. M. H.

A—Enlargement of the heart is not itself a disease but is rather the reflection of such things as a leaky heart valve or high blood presuure. The treatment, therefore, depends on the cause, the degree of enlargement, the symptoms and similar factors.

Q—A man I know is almost completely deaf. He says he cannot eat a grain of salt because it makes him worse. How is this possible?—S. T.

A—This is a most interesting problem. One would guess that this man had a severe form of Meniere's disease which is in part, at least, a dropsical condition of the inner ear. It is frequently associated with hardness of hearing, and salt restriction is often advised because it is felt that salt increases the fluid or dropsy in the ear.

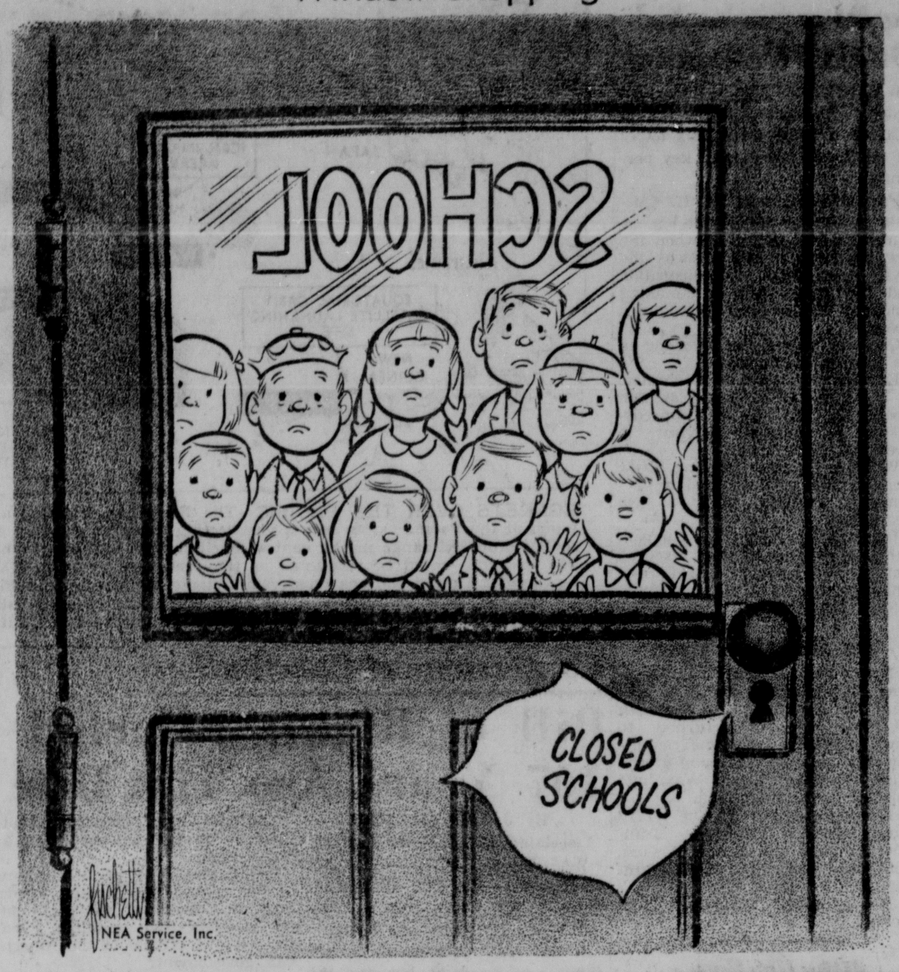

Under the circumstances he should probably continue to restrict his salt intake just as much as is safe for him to do. In other words, he should take only as much salt as is necessary for his general health.

Q—About a year ago I suffered a blow on the top of my head. A couple of days afterward I suffered a blackout for a few menutes. After that I had headaches and dizzy spells. An X-ray was taken and fluid removed from my spine but nothing wrong was found. I still have the dizzy spells and headaches off and on and a sort of buzzing in my head. What could this trouble be?—Mrs. P.

A—There are two possibilities, I believe. One is that the injury to your head is responsible for your present symptoms, though if this is true the treatment may be difficult. Perhaps a neurosurgeon would have some suggestion.

The other possibility is that your present symptoms are at least partly psychological or emotional in which case they may get better as time passes.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—In an ancient, dirty stucco building, once a hospital, some two dozen men arrayed around long tables in a bare room listened attentively to a speaker.

The talk itself wasn't exciting, having to do with shipping, procurement, and other seemingly grubby business routine. But the thing that brought them together was something else: dramatic, still fairly new to the United States, and refreshingly, costing little of the taxpayer's money.

The conferees were mostly exhibit managers whose job it is to put America into trade fairs all over the world. This project, a four-year-old program operating now under the Commerce Department's Office of International Trade Fairs, isn't exactly unsung.

But it is perhaps not widely realized with what importance the program is regarded in official government eyes. The idea, of course, is to convey to foreign lands the quality and excitement of free American life, and to promote U. S. trade abroad.

NO MINOR FUNCTIONARY decides where the United States shall exhibit its wares and its ways. These decisions are made at high level, in the National Security Council, by representatives of the State and Commerce departments, George Allen of U.S.I.A., and embassies in the countries which may be involved.

The same group also determines what theme may be suitable for each fair we enter.

From 1950 to 1954, the Russians took part in some 130 fairs. With us it was a case of "no foot forward" at all. Nettled at Soviet propaganda asserting we were too busy making weapons to develop peaceful trade exhibits, President Eisenhower plunked out 2½ million dollars in emergency funds to get us rolling.

Since 1954 we've taken part in 66 fairs in some 30 nations and it's estimated 50 million foreigners have seen our stuff.

One of the pleasantest aspects of these evidently highly successful endeavors is that federal outlays for the program, now running around 3½ million dollars a year, work out to some 22 cents for each visitor to our exhibits.

THE GOVERNMENT TRADE fair staff, though operating far-flung, comes to barely 100 people. Sometimes they don't even use all the money allotted for particular fairs.

That the government's dollars streach so well in this field is due in great part to heavy cooperation from industry. Since the 1954 beginning, some 4,500 firms have participated. In a typical year their loans and contributions come to 1½ million dollars.

And business seems willing to chip in generously even when prospects for trade are slim. More than a few times, the decision to enter a fair rests primarily on top level judgment as to political and propaganda advantages to be gained.

A sample was this year's Tunisian fair. The only notable sales were of a jutebox and a popcorn machine, bought by some enterprising snack bar impressario.

WE WERE GREEN at the start but we've learned fast. Possibly the biggest lesson is that we score best when we show people how to make things, or how things work. They stand wide-eyed, watching powdered milk become ice cream, or blue jeans being sewed together.

The fair just opened in New Delki, a U. S. solo effort, is a new departure in this direction. Under big nylon-covered domes, 20 small shop-type industries are going full tilt to show the eager Indians what they can do for themselves through modest-scale free enterprise.

This general stress on U. S. industry in action puts a premium on the finding and training native demonstrators, not always an easy quest.

We've run up some big attendance totals in a lot of places, especially in Yugoslavia, where a supermarket and a model motel were among the features, and at Poznan, Poland, where we drew a million by putting some dash and sparkle into the visitor's drab Iron Curtain existence.

The Russians still outdo us some three to one on fairs entered, and are said to outspend us by even wider margins. But the word of the experts and the foreign viewers suggests we're giving a far better show in most spots, and that's the key test.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

When I was a juvenile delinquent in Chicago I knew a fat old lady, probably 33, who would scold us desperados for jumping a gap of three or four feet from the roof of the building next door onto the roof of the building where she and her parents lived on the top floor. These were three-story buildings and she said it was dangerous to jump that gap, especially in the dark. The noise was unpleasant to her and her father and mother.

Her name was Miss Myrtle Reed and she had just written a novel called "Lavender and Old Lace." I gathered from my mother's comments that she was unhappy and I faintly recall, with my elephantine memory for absolutely useless information, that she had spoken at some literary tea of beery kisses as a disenchanting reality of marriage. Her husband was a copy-reader on the Journal. I have not the faintest notion how that burr got snarled in the wool of my memory, but you may have some like it yourself.

I remember the name of a Polish immigrant who was killed by the Chicage chief of police when he went to report his arrival in town, according to the custom in Poland. There was a current scare about anarchists and the chief shot him dead. The man's name was Anton Averbuch. Harold Ickes tried to tell me it was Auerbach, but that was the Tribune version. I belonged to the Chicago American school. My old man worked on the American. We had a picture of Averbuch on the slab at the morgue kicking around in the catch-all drawer of the mission table in our living room for years. Mission furniture was ugly, but strong, solid, honest stuff by contrast with flimsy junk with brass ferrules on canary legs which is stylish today. When you got a big mission chair you did not get those tacked-on cardboard side-walls of the modern big easy chairs which make a boom when you drum your fingers on them.

My old man was a wonderful reporter and as Ben Hecht said on the TV one night, a wonderful writer too. And moreover, he was a hell of a fighter.

It shames me to read that Frank Sinatra with his record on file in the archives of the FBI, one gun-rap, one pinch in Jersey for rape marked down to assault, and finally dismissed, two collars for slugging people with sneak punches, and his association with crummy gangsters hollers filthy names at reporters and gets away with it. Let me tell you that when he got drunk and boasted that he had gone to my room in the Waldorf to slug me on the night that Roosevelt licked Tom Dewey I chased this ratty bum clear up to Canada and made him admit that he hadn't gone anywhere near my quarters. And if he had I would have thrown him down the stairwell. That still goes.

If I had the desk I would fire any reporter who took anything off Sinatra.

In my old man's day in Chicago, he and Jack Palmer, Jim Crown, and a little harp named Bill McCormick were highly respected by tough characters around the Loop and even by cops.

Jack Palmer, an orangeman from Belfast, joined the Princess Pats when the first war broke out and went all the way. He loved to fight. In a jam he could swing that black leather platebox which news photographers carried then with grace, emphasis and effect.

When I was a juvenile delinquent we were allowed out until 9 at night and my mob had a specialty of jumping that gap onto the building where Myrtle Reed lived. We never tried it in reverse because the other building was a couple of feet higher with a rampart about 18 inches high and we couldn't get the momentum for the uphill pull. Miss Reed's mother used to complain gently because, in landing on their roof, we shattered their Welsbach gas mantles, which cost 35 cents. They were very fragile.

I never read "Lavendar and Old Lace," but I dimly resented the sneer in the title of the play a few years ago, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Myrtle Reed was a repeater, but, as far as I know, the author of "Arsenic" never had another hit. Anyway, it takes no writer to write plays. Read a play and see.

There were about a dozen delinquents in our mob.

Johnny Guthrie went up to Canada and became a flier. He went down on the western front and never was found. Joe Graffis flew with LaGuardia's outfit in Italy. After the war he grounded himself and always rode the trains. Manton Eddy became a lieutenant general with an army in the second war in France and Germany, Harry Hebner made the 1912 Olympic team. Another problem kid is manager of a big chain of New York hotels.

We were a beatnick lost in our generation.

So Many Little Decisions Needed Before the Big One

"Why is it so hard for a woman to make up her mind about anything?" asks a man.

"I can go into a clothing store and buy a suit in 15 minutes, but my wife will shop for two days to find a dress, and even after she has bought one sometimes she takes it back. You'd think buying a dress was a major decision."

In a way it is. If a suit fits a man and the price fits his pocketbook that's fine and he'll take it. And that's that.

But it's different for a woman. Before she decides on a dress she has to make a lot of other decisions.

Does the dress "do anything" for her? Is the color becoming? If she buys it will it mean getting new accessories—shoes, hat, bag and gloves—to go with it, or can she wear it with what she already has?

Is the style what the saleswomen call "slenderizing"? Is it, perhaps, a little extreme and might go out of style after one season's wear?

Has she seen the same dress in any other shops? If so, she'll probably meet herself going and coming if she buys it.

Will it do to wear to the boss' house for dinner?

Is the color one she'll soon tire of? Is it plain enough so that she can wear the necklace she received last Christmas with it?

Will her husband like it or will he think it is too plain?

Will her friends approve? And last, but not least, can she afford it? Or could she possibly get by with last year's model?

So that's why it takes a woman so long to make one simple decision. She has to make so many little decisions before she makes the big one.

Safety, Reverse Bring in Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY

Pessimistic Pete won the opening heart lead and remarked, "I imagine the trumps will all be in one hand. I hope it is the West hand."

Pete then played his ace of trumps and sure enough West did hold four to the jack-ten. Pete's next play was his singleton diamond and when dummy's jack lost to the queen he remarked that he never worked a finesse.

East played a heart back and Pete won and led the six of trumps. West played the ten and dummy the queen. Pete carefully ruffed a diamond with the nine of trumps and led the five. West played low and dummy won with the seven. Another diamond was ruffed by Pete's last trump and Pete went to dummy with the king of spades.

Dummy's king of trumps pulled West's last trump and also allowed Pete to discard his losing heart. Now Pete's spades were good for the rest of the tricks.

Gifts at Christmas Time —A Message for Everyone

BY MARIE DAERR

What shall I give at Christmas that
Will live beyond the glow
Of candleshine, or crimson bulbs
Against December snow?

What will outlast the holly wreath,
The ribbons' satin shine,
The happy carols that are heard
Around the festive pine?

These be my gifts: a hand stretched out
To one who comes to me,
Asking my help . . . The warming fire
Of ready sympathy . . .

Encouragement. (The gift seems small,
But from it souls take wing.) . . .
True tolerance for others' views—
A wonder-working thing!

A smile to lift a weary heart
And make a cloud-wrapped day
Suddenly fairer . . . Then, a song
To smooth a rocky way.

These are my gifts . . . Oh, let them be
Not only Christmas cheer,
But gifts that I will gladly make
Each day throughout the year!

Fifty-nine of the 84 female victims were pedestrians, while the 316 male victims included only 56 pedestrians. Of the male victims, 173 were driving motor vehicles, 81 were passengers and six were bicycle riders. Only 16 of the female victims were drivers, while nine were passengers.

BIG STICK IN THE ARCTIC—Siberia is being turned into a "platform" for ballistic missiles aimed at America. This warning comes from Lt. Gen. Frank Armstrong, commander of most U.S. military forces in Alaska. He says the Russians are testing missiles and other nuclear weapons only a few hundred miles from Alaska. Armstrong calls Petropavlovsk, on the Kamchatka Peninsula (see Newsmap), the largest Russian military installation in the Arctic. Tiksi, on the northern shore of Siberia, is likened to Elmendorf Air Force Base, headquarters of the Alaskan command. Armstrong claims that 2,500-mile intermediate range Thor missiles, based in southern Alaska, could neutralize these Siberian bases, as well as the port of Vladivostok.

Teased on Gift

Boy, 15, Kills Younger Sister

WATERVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy shot and killed a younger sister who teased him about a Christmas present for his girl friend, State Police report.

The boy, Michael Pryputniewicz, was ordered held in the Oneida County Detention Home for a hearing in Children's Court next week.

Troopers said the boy shot his sister, Joan, 13, when she approached a closet in which he had hidden the present.

The shooting occurred Saturday in their parents' farm home.

The boy said he had taken a shotgun from a wall, loaded it and pointed it at the girl when she went toward the closet, police reported.

They quoted the youth as saying the gun had gone off. He had not meant to kill his sister, he said. The girl was struck in the neck.

A brother, Gary, 9, also was present and had joined in teasing Michael, troopers said. Gary was not harmed.

Lefkowitz, 16 Consumer Guard Leaders to Confer

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and 16 leaders in the field of consumer protection wil confer in his office next Friday.

Lefkowitz said today he has called the conference to discuss his proposed 1959 legislative program, specifically as it relates to consumer protection.

The 16 are members of the advisory committee of the Division of Consumer Frauds and Protection of the State Department of Law.

Lefkowitz said Sunday he plans to meet with members of the Committee of One Hundred Housewives, a group participating in the division's consumer protection program.

The attorney general said the conferences will be held in four different areas of the state in the near future. The dates and locations of the meeting will be announced later, he said.

Double Double

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kremer became grandparents twice on the same day. Their daughters-in-law, Mrs. John R. Kremer, Jr., and Mrs. Donald B. Kremer—the former in Van Nuys, Cal., and the latter in Winchester—gave birth to baby boys the same day.

Flexibility Urged In Classroom Plan To Help Education

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Flexibility in the size of classrooms to utilize top teaching talent are recommended by Prof. Matthew P. Gaffner of the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

The flexible classrooms could be adapted to different-sized groups, he said Sunday in a speech at the opening of the 74th annual conference of the State Assn. of Secondary School Principals.

"There is no real, logical reason for limiting the influence of our best teachers to 30 children a period in one classroom," he asserted, ". . .sometimes 200 can benefit from a superior teacher."

Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard, objected to high school practices of separating students into groups according to general fields of study.

He said each pupil's program should be arrived at on an individual basis.

More than 800 principals of junior and senior high schools are attending the three-day meeting.

Mrs. Auerbach speaks her mind about the telephone

New York Telephone Company
New York, N.Y.

Hollis, New York

Gentlemen:

Frankly, I would drop dead without a phone. I am a housewife and mother (we have two school-age sons) who returned to work. I really don't believe I could have done it without the phone. How else would I check on the children, order the groceries — in fact, run my whole household? More than half of our family shopping is done over the phone, thanks to a careful record of clothing sizes, the reliability of the stores we buy from and their wonderful salespeople, and that good old reliable telephone. To working mothers the telephone is as essential as a social-security card...in fact, it is social security...a mind at rest so that both a job and a family can be well managed and enjoyed.

Sincerely yours,
Sylvia Auerbach
(Mrs.) Sylvia Auerbach

In her letter, Mrs. Auerbach said so much, so well, there's little anyone could add. Except that, considering all it does, the telephone is one of the biggest bargains in your family budget. Its price has gone up far less than most other things you buy.

100 Useless Horses

By FRANK TRIPP

Have you ever taken inventory of the useless things you own; things that were useless to you when you bought them? Plenty of us own at least 100 useless horses — that's right, horses.

They are under the hoods of our cars, and cost us dearly. We bought them because we had to, if we had a car.

Our fathers, who were willing to earn their comforts, got along without these racing stables. They shifted gears, the hard way. We can shift without effort, automatically, still must have hundreds of idle horses standing by.

Tripp

In one decade there has developed a senseless prejudice against a simple mechanical principle that can multiply or reduce a car's horsepower and speed almost without limit—gears .

As a speed-mad, money-drunk generation became soft and shiftless, their cars had to be shiftless too. Needless horsepower has been added to take the place of gears. Gear shifting, though made effortless, became irksome. Drivers became robots and the highway slaughter multiplied.

* * *

YOU CAN PUT 500 horsepower under a car's hood and still have nothing, usable within the law, that gears cannot accomplish with 150 horsepower, or less. All of the necessary power and usable speed would be there; at a sizable reduction in selling price and operating cost.

It wasn't because Americans are too dumb to shift that gear shifting became frowned upon. It's because they're lazy — and dearly love to boast of having the mostest of everything.

So when we got effortless gear shifting and the endless possibilities it offers, builders went right on adding the needless horsepower that makes cars more costly, and more dangerous.

* * *

THE SUCKER public must buy a sawmill power plant to run a mixmaster; fuel it, race it around the country, and brag about it. It only has to be wrapped up in a slinky, weasel-like package, with its belly on the ground, and a mortgage on its back.

Someday a smart cookie will come out with the really roomy American car that millions of families are waiting for. It will have half or less the horsepower of today's cars and do the same tricks; for anyone with the ambition to push a button.

Through gears, automatic and noiseless, it will do anything today's cars do, gracefully and well; could sell for much less and operate far below present costs. Its styling could be anything designers choose; as rakish or conservative as whim demands.

* * *

CONCEIVABLY it could shift its own gears, as automatically as modern cameras adjust their own lens aperature and shutter speed via the eye of their light meter. The fundamentals exist.

It could even apply its own brakes and control its own speed, with better sense than some drivers. It could refuse to crash another car, run down a pedestrian or plow through a guard rail. It could reduce car tragedies by half.

A dream? Need not be, for it can—and will—be done. What a market awaits it!

* * *

HALF OF THE car market is getting fed up on the belly-slammers, with their tail wings spread and all of their room outdoors.

Sensible owners are tired of paying for power and speed that they cannot use, and stay out of jail—or a casket.

They are ready to swap their car's "back porch" for legroom; its igloo doorways for headroom; its excess horsepower for a little horse sense.

When the showoffs get wise, or go broke, the biggest seller will be the car that economically fulfills a family car's basic function — comfortable, sane transportation.

Anybody want one?

JEREMY CHRISTMAS — A Yuletide Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — There are some anxious eyes on business profits today in Wall Street.

The stock market, always sensitive to corporate earnings, is more so just now because the bulls have bid up prices to a point that will call for a steep climb in net income after taxes by many firms before their profits are in line with the optimism the bulls have underwritten.

Right Trend Mounting

The profit trend is on the upgrade at year end after a sharp drop in the first months of 1958. What Wall Street is scanning the reports to find is the strength of the trend and the chances of its continuing.

First of the annual profit and loss reports are coming in now from those companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar year. Added to these are a flock of estimates by corporate executives of what 1958 earnings should be when the books are finally closed in coming weeks. And there are the many hopeful ones who are saying: just wait until next year.

From the early reports Wall Street is getting a hint at least as how 1958 profits will stack up with 1957's after all the annual reports are in a couple of months from now.

25 Report Boosts

Some 56 corporations already have reported for their fiscal years. Of these 25 show gains in net income over the figures for the previous year, while 31 show declines. There are three reporting net losses this year, while the year before there were two.

Combined the 56 made $182,686,639, compared with $171,320,254 in the previous year, for an increase of 6.6 per cent.

But the results are weighted heavily by striking gains this year by two of the 56 companies.

Two Striking Gains

American Motors reports profits of 26 million dollars this year, against a loss the year before of 11¾ million dollars.

And Minute Maid Corp. puts profits this year 4½ million dollars, while reporting a loss of 2½ million dollars the previous year. In both cases carryover tax credits sweeten the 1958 showings.

The other 54 companies by themselves would have shown combined profits off 17 per cent from the previous year.

Predictions from businessmen whose firms will close their books on New Year's Eve also show a mixed trend.

Railroads as a class are chalking up this year as a poor year. But the picture brightens as you go west. The Western roads are profitably moving bumper crops and Western business was hit only a glancing blow by the recession.

Expecting better earnings this year than last are such roads as Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Illinois Central. Declining net income is predicted by the Louisville & Nashville and the Norfolk & Western.

Major Religions

Most people on earth belong to four major religions: Christians, Mohammedans, Brahmins and Buddhists. There are also about 11 million Hebrews.

Doctors Warn Picking Spreads Warts! New Discovery Removes Warts Quickly

Amazing New Compound . . . Used at Home . . . Removes Common Warts Safely Without Cutting or Burning

New York, N. Y. (Special)— Medical science has linked warts with a contagious virus that may spread them to all parts of the body. Doctors say picking at warts increases the danger of spreading and urge that they be removed as quickly as possible.

Now science has discovered a new substance that removes these growths safely . . . without cutting or burning. This substance, in easy-to-use liquid form, dissolves warts, leaving normal, healthy skin.

Reports show this liquid can be safely used at home, even for children. There is no pain, no ugly scarring.

In cases observed by a leading New York skin clinic, this liquid proved its ability to penetrate the wart, destroy its cells, and cause the wart to fall apart and disappear.

The name of this new liquid is *Compound W. It is now available for the first time without prescription at drug counters everywhere for just 98¢. Compound W is guaranteed to remove warts or money refunded.

Youth Court Act Criticism Grows

NEWARK, N. Y. (AP) — Criticism of the controversial Youth Court Act by legal officers continues to mountain advance of the 1959 legislative session.

The latest objections came Saturday from a panel of five district attorneys speaking here before a meeting of the Federation of Bar Associations of Western New York. About 55 judges and lawyers attended.

The act itself, passed by the 1956 Legislature, has yet to go into force. The Legislature, in recognition of extensive objections, has twice delayed the effective date, now set for next April 1.

The act creates a separate court system to handle crimes by youths from age of 16 to 21. Secrecy provisions in the act have drawn fire from newspapers and jurists as infringing the public's right to know.

Carman Ball, district attorney for Erie County (Buffalo), said the press should have the right to decide for itself whether or not to print a story. He said newspapers in his area had used this right with discretion.

Another panelist, Maurice Chacchia, Ontario County district attorney, said:

"As far as I'm concerned it's all right to publish the names of youths involved in crimes. . . .I see no reason for further secrecy for those who are committed."

The panelists suggested a better plan would be to extend the present youthful offender law to cover ycuths to the age of 21.

Others on the panel included the district attorneys from Monroe, Wayne and Genesee counties.

Finds Son, 2, Frozen

HUNTER, Utah (AP) — M. B. Peterson stepped into the frigid dawn outside his home and found his 2-year-old son Zachary frozen to death on the lawn. The family was unaware the boy had left the house. The temperature had dipped to 22 degrees during the night.

Movable Monument

OLCOTT, N. Y. (AP) — Civil War Veterans' Monument has again become victim of the automobile. It's being moved from the main intersection of this resort town to a public park, to make room for a parking lot. It had to be moved before because of cars. In 1923 it was found that the increase of automobiles—and new drivers—was making the statue, then at another intersection, accident-prone.

Surgeon Scores Ambulance Speed

CHICAGO (AP) — The speeding ambulance injures or kills more people than it saves, a noted surgeon contended today.

Dr. Preston A. Wade, chairman of the American College of Surgeons committee on trauma and clinical surgery professor at Cornell University Medical School, said ambulance drivers speed because they enjoy being "privileged drivers."

"A study of ambulance calls of Flint, Mich., has shown that in not a single instance of ambulance calls was there any evidence that speed changed the outcome of the case," Wade said.

Wade predicted that in the future ambulances will be subject to the same traffic laws observed by other vehicles.

Wade's remarks were in a current issue of Traffic Safety, the monthly magazine of the National Safety Council.

Follows Direction

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The marquee over a downtown theater reads: "A Nice Little Bank That Should Be Robbed." Sunday the box office was robbed of $100. The robber escaped on foot.

Shipments Reported Down on Great Lakes

CLEVELAND, N. Y. (AP)—Ore, coal and grain shipments on the Great Lakes dropped to 110,884,626 tons this year, the Lake Carriers Assn. reports.

The total last year was 156,756,116 tons.

Shipping in November of 1958 topped that of the same month in 1957. The total last month was 11,593,988, an increase of 794,120 tons over the same month of 1957.

The overall drop and the year-end increase matched the national business pattern. The carriers association issued its report Sunday.

Decision on Pigeons Will Be Up to Court

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)— Are racing pigeons essential as Army reservists subject to immediate recall or are they dirty birds and undesirable in a city

The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Racing Pigeon Union says racing pigeons are essential members of a community, especially since the Army has disbanded its own pigeon corps.

But Judge Benjamin Lencher has upheld municipal rulings that the birds are pests and undesirable. His ruling requires a Pittsburgh man to get rid of his flock of racing pigeons by Dec. 31.

The pigeon union says it will ask Pennsylvania Superior Court to settle the question.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A handful of individual issues moved ahead today in a mixed and fairly drab stock market.

In early afternoon trading was running slightly ahead of Friday's slow pace but well behind the level of many previous sessions.

Changes generally were under a point. Some of the favorites rose one to three points.

The market was pretty much a repeat of Friday when investors turned cautious, partly due to the Berlin crisis.

CHEAPER MONEY IN 1959

High grade bond prices have fared badly in 1958. Under the impact of more costly money, fostered by the Federal Reserve Board, hundreds of prime quality dollar obligations have declined in price.

For example, long term U. S. Government 2½ per cent bonds can presently be purchased for about 88 cents on the dollar. Likewise, the high quality American Telephone and Telegraph long term 2⅝ per cent obligations are bringing only 76 cents on the dollar.

Many other corporations whose credit rating is high — such as Consolidated Edison, General Motors, Pacific Gas and Electric, and Standard Oil of New Jersey — have outstanding dollar bonds that can be bought at discounts of from 10 to 20 per cent of their face value.

It is probable that early in 1959 some congressional action will be taken to ease this "costly" money situation. When basic interest rates advance, thousands of projects from home building to huge construction plans are postponed and abandoned. Economic America responds as quickly to a lowering of the basic interest rate. Cheap money has almost become synonymous with prosperity.

Readers of these lines who have substantial cash balances earning little or nothing should recognize present relatively firm - money - rate conditions. There are thousands of such people in America.

If the Federal Reserve Banks' rediscount rate should be lowered as much as one half of one per cent a year in 1959, the present "bear" market in high grade bonds would develop into a "bull" market.

There are in this country millions of investors who still insist on keeping their money in fixed dollar form — either in banks or in high grade bonds. The prejudices of many of these persons can well be understood. Some have had bad stock market luck.

Here, as an example, is an investor who, 30 years ago, bought 20 shares of a leading bank stock at $500 a share. He bought it at the top. Ten years later he sold it on the bottom at $20 a share. His $9,600 loss was catastrophic.

There are thousands of investors who bought over-capitalized real estate bonds only to see the enterprises fold up and fail. Thus, today, there are countless people whose tragic losses have completely disillusioned them against any security purchases and they keep their money in banks.

If these people ever are to come out of their hiding places and once again become security investors, now is a good time to do so.

Ultra-conservative investors can buy the 2½ per cent bonds of the United States Government for around $880 for a $1,000 bond with a yield to maturity of about 3½ per cent.

If as I anticipate, Congress early in 1959 starts investigating "expensive" money, and the machinery of "cheap" money is set in motion, these bonds will advance in price appreciably. And so will all high grade corporate obligations.

(A) Yes, I will, if a self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Ashby Requests

the jury board sent the communication back to the grand jury, acting on the theory the jury board had no power to remove Ashby who had been appointed by the jury board but had no power under the law to remove him. That power lies with the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

Schirick's Statement ....

Justice Schirick, chairman of the Ulster County Jury Board, issued the following statement after the meeting held Saturday:

Following the indictment of Ulster County commissioner of jurors, Edwin W. Ashby, by the grand jury of the Extraordinary Special and Trial Term of the Supreme Court in Ulster County, a special meeting of the Ulster County Jury Board was held on December 13, 1958. While the board recognized fully that an indictment is merely an accusation and implies no guilt, it deemed it would be anomalous to permit a defendant charged by indictment with perjury to administer oaths to prospective jurors and to perform the other duties of a commissioner. In the opinion of the board such action might impair public confidence in the administration of our judicial system.

Unanimous Decision

Commissioner Ashby appeared at the special meeting of the board and requested that he be disqualified from further performance of the duties of commissioner of jurors pending the disposition of the charges against him. The board unanimously adopted a resolution disqualifying him and suspending him without pay for such period. It thereupon appointed Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue as acting commissioner of jurors at the pleasure of the board.

A report of the action thus taken has been made by the Board to Presiding Justice Sydney F. Foster of the Appellate Division, Third Department and a copy thereof sent to Senator Tompkins."

Has Faith in System

"I am completely at a loss to account for the indictment against me. Nevertheless, I have absolute faith in the jury system of this county. I immediately requested the county jury board to convene and have already asked to be temporarily relieved from my position because of this indictment, although I have been informed that it is merely an accusation and that no one can be judged on accusations alone. Nevertheless, I feel that it would only create an embarrassing position, and for that reason, I have asked to be temporarily relieved of my duties until these charges are heard. At that time, I feel absolutely confident that I will be vindicated."

Hold Rosendale Man On Forgery Charge

Arthur Raymond Cyr, 33, of Mountain Road, Rosendale, was arrested by the Rosendale Police Department and Kingston state police Saturday on a charge of forgery second degree involving a $40 check.

Complainant is Alfred Coppola of Poughkeepsie, a driver for Krug Baking Co.

Cyr was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly, waived examination and was committed to Ulster County Jail to await action of the grand jury.

The arrest was made by Sgt. George Bockelman of the village police and Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, of the Kingston state police.

Postpone Sentencing Catskill Attorney

Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon today postponed sentence in he case of Catskill Attorney John D. Whittaker pending a medical examination.

Property bail in the amount of $2,500 was cancelled and Whittaker was committed to Greene County Jail.

He was charged with misappropriating a check for $9,750 drawn to Mrs. Fama Vaughn of Tannersville for lands taken by the state for highway purposes.

Oswego Snowfall

tories are working at normal capacity.

There were still reports of storm damage, however. A section of the roof of an old, three-story frame dwelling collapsed Sunday under the weight of accumulated snow.

Two residents—both single men living in their own apartments—were ordered to move out. City officials said the building would be condemned. They said the structure had been on the verge of that step long before the snow came.

Three Fires Are Reported in Area During Weekend

Three fires were reported in Ulster County during the week end, one of which destroyed the Accord Airport with an estimated loss of $100,000.

Three planes valued at approximately $20,000 each were in the hangar when the fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered.

The three planes, three other airplane engines, different types of portable spray guns, air compressors and other equipment was lost in the fire.

Other Fires

Another fire in the upper Byrdcliffe section near the village of Woodstock burned off the wooden shingle roof of a home owned by Benjamin Webster. The dwelling was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Zane Zimmer.

A third fire extensively damaged a workshop in the rear of the residence of James Pond of Wittenberg.

Flames in the airport hangar were first discovered about noon Saturday by Mrs. Alden Robertson whose husband owns the airport. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson occupy a trailer near the hangar.

Crop Dusting Planes

The planes were used for spraying and dusting area crops.

Assistant Chief Floyd Countryman of the Accord Fire Department said the fire apparently broke out in a rear corner of the hangar, possibly from a gas heater in that section.

The hangar was a Quonset type (roof with arched top). The roof and siding were of metal with wooden rafters. The airport was approximately 100 feet long by 60 wide.

Responding were three trucks from the Accord company, two from the Stone Ridge Fire Department and two from the High Falls Department.

Find Roof Ablaze

The Webster home in Byrdcliffe described as a two story frame dwelling, caught fire about 7:30 p. m. Saturday while Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer were having dinner. They smelled smoke, investigated and found the roof on fire.

They notified the Woodstock Fire Department which responded with two trucks under the command of Chief George Haythorne.

Haythorne said the fire started apparently from sparks dropping on the singles. The Zimmers had a fire burning in an open fireplace at the time.

Water Damage Inside

Firemen were able to contain the fire on the roof although some water damage was caused on both first and second floors. The Zimmers were able to get their belongings out of the house. Some things owned by Webster stored on the upper floor were reported damaged.

Woodstock Fire trucks returned to the station at 11 p. m.

Two trucks from the Wittenberg Fire Company and one from Woodstock responded to a fire in the backyard workshop of James Pond in that village.

The interior of the shop described as the size of a garage, was badly charred but still standing. Haythorne said firemen "fogged" the blaze to stop it. The shop contained tools and numerous materials such as paints, baskets, etc.

Haythorne said the fire was of undetermined origin but may have started in a drum stove.

Milton Farm Employe Hurt in Sunday Fight

An employe of the McManus Farm, Milton, was in the hospital today and another employe in the Ulster county jail following a fight early Saturday morning.

Ernest Robert Knox, 38, of New York City, was arrested on a charge of assault first degree following an alleged attack with a poker on Robert Davis about 4 a. m.

Davis was reported critical when admitted to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, but was said to be improved this morning. He spent a "fairly comfortable night."

Knox was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Patsy Conforti of Highland, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County Jail to await action by the grand jury.

The investigation and arrest was by Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, and Trooper P. M. Luongo.

Allies Face

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joined in the later half of the three-hour conference at the Foreign Office. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt also spent half an hour in the meeting, giving his views to the foreign ministers. Dulles told him after the meeting, "You don't need to be worried."

Today the Allies turned to trade and economic policy with a meeting of the 17-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation. The OEEC includes all European members of the Atlantic Pact plus such neutral countries as Sweden, Switzerland and Austria.

The French recently rejected a British proposal to associate all 17 OEEC members in a free trade area. The British still are bitter over the French action, and their officials say that reprisals may have to be taken to defend the British economy. The Scandinavians and some other nations are saying the same.

Other Items

Other items to be taken up during the meetings this week include:

1. France's determination for a bigger voice in the Atlantic Alliance.

2. Continental hesitation to accept American nuclear rocket bases.

3. The dangerous situation in Cyprus.

4. The fishing war in the North Atlantic, involving Icelandic and British ships.

In recent weeks tension has arisen between Arab nationalists and Communists in Iraq.

A violent campaign against the United States has been under way in Baghdad for weeks.

Letter of Thanks Is Sent Harriman on Lieutenant

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today expressed his appreciation to Governor Averell Harriman for assigning Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner of the state police to assist in the reorganization of the local police department.

The mayor, in a letter to the governor, noted that Lt. Wiedenborner, assigned here in March, is about to leave for another assignment "after months of cooperative and productive labor."

Mayor Radel's letter to the governor follows:

"In March of this year, in a speedy answer to one of the several requests I made to you during your term of office, you sent to me through Supt. McGarvey's Office, Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner of the New York State Police. After months of cooperative and productive labor his job is nearing completion and he is about to leave Kingston for another assignment. I send these few lines to you to recap the events and point up the fine job he has done.

"Lt. Weidenborner came to us in March and the circumstances that prompted my request and your compliance was the sad state of affairs of our Kingston Police Department at the time I assumed office.

Assigned Qualified Man

"As mayor and president of the police board I not only had a special interest in correcting the problem but mine was an unavoidable duty to promote the necessary changes to recreate a department new in ideals, spirit, methods and procedures and modernized to the greatest possible extent in keeping with the publics ability to financially support such a program.

"Admittedly, I personally knew little about the conduct operation and neccessary procedures in modernizing a police department. In Ken Weidenborner, you sent to me a man most versed in all the police knowledge that I and the Board lacked and the almost finished product now evolving from our joint efforts is a true tribute to his knowledge, training, experience and of course, a fine reflection upon his organization and its superiors.

Gave Full Time

"While his work had nothing directly to do with my immediate problem of clearing the air of all the charges and counter charges that stemmed from the Reuter Report and the Ulster County Grand Jury investigation, he had to work constructively in an atmosphere surrounding him that produced eight indictments by the Grand Jury, and in which the Police Board conducted a departmental trial and hearing for nine officers, four of whom were charged and found guilty of lesser crimes or implications. During this period, a total of five resignations were received. In the case of eight other officers who were mentioned throughout the two investigations, insufficient information was offered and there appeared no basis for charges. In several cases, speculative and sensation seeking news broadcasts made mention of several men against whom charges were never necessary since no mention of them ever appeared in the testimony. Even under these circumstances and conditions, Lt. Ken worked feverishly, sometimes day and night, on a program that met with almost complete acceptance by our board and has produced for my administration and for the residents of our city a truly new police department of which we all can be genuinely proud.

"While I had taken the first step several months earlier by providing an adequate pay scale in my budget for each man on the force, the recommendations from Lt. Weidenborner came to the board and to my office in a steady stream of reports on necessary changes. One of the first called for an increase from 45 to 61 in the manpower necessary to operate the department and afford adequate protection for our city. This was immediately acknowledged and proper action taken.

"Since that time at his suggestion, our headquarters area has received a complete revamping followed by a paint job, installation of individual lockers, institution of the use of a bound blotter system, modernized and efficient filing procedures with added facilities, a haphazard teletype system modernized and greatly improved, promulgation and printing of a complete new book of rules and regulations governing the department, compilation for printing in the near future of a complete traffic code and tabulation of all existing ordinances and right at this moment the third and final course of the accelerated State Police School being given to each member of the force.

"This is just a quick summation of the major innovations proposed by him and accepted by the board and my office.

Expresses Appreciation

"To caption the verbal picture I have just presented, I would like to express on behalf of my city administration, the police board and people we represent and also on behalf of the members who comprise the Kingston Police Department, an attitude of sincere thanks for sending to us, for the solution of our problem, a man so well versed in police procedures and putting them in motion.

"Our thanks too, to Superintendent McGarvey of the New York State Police for his several efforts, at your direction, in helping to forward the program we so earnestly pursued together."

No Relief

The mercury reached 35 degrees at Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont. At the same time it was 29 at Mobile, Ala., and 33 at New Orleans.

Temperatures again dipped far below freezing in the Carolinas and to freezing and lower through Georgia and northern Florida.

To Lighten Burdens

In an address in Latin, Pope John said that in increasing the membership of the Sacred College, he had in mind the great and expanding duties of its members. He said he had in mind particularly lightening the burdens of the present cardinal members of the Vatican Curia, the central administration of the church.

The Pope did not say directly whether he intends to increase the size of the college still more in the future, as has been speculated. But he did say that he had in mind many other prelates of the church who had "proved themselves very worth of this high honor."

The new cardinals are from nine nations, including the 13 from Italy. They bring the number of nations represented in the college to 27. Mexico and Uruguay obtained their first princes of the church.

The consistory was the first since Jan. 12, 1953, when the late Pius XII created 24 cardinals.

Health for All

'To Sleep, Perchance . . .'

Hate the sound of the alarm? Snap at your spouse before breakfast? Feel at least a century old as you drag through the morning's work? Maybe you think more sleep would help? Maybe you're right.

According to a dispatch from Moscow, Russian scientists have restored an old dog to the prime of life by putting it to sleep for three months. Of course, the Russian results are a direct contradiction of an old American legend. Rip Van Winkle was in his prime when he fell asleep. After 20 years of sleep he was a bent old man with a long beard —more decrepit, if we can trust the illustrators, than if he had stayed awake.

Twenty years is perhaps too much sleep. Even the Russians' ninety days sound like a lot. Some of us would settle happily for eight hours right now. But how do you get it? How many nights in the week do you get that much sleep? Be honest, now. Monday there was a good movie on the Late-Late Show; Tuesday you had a good mystery novel; you brought work home from the office Thursday; Friday there was a school meeting that should have been over at 11, but wasn't; a few friends dropped in Saturday evening and didn't know when to go home; Sunday you lay awake thinking about Monday's problems. So you had a good night's sleep Wednesday, and you slept later than usual Saturday morning. You probably averaged no more than six hours of sleep a night.

Only you can tell whether this is enough for you. If you don't feel as young as you are, it's time to take stock of your sleeping habits. Only you can bring them in line with your needs. It may take determined effort, but it will pay off in youthful energy.

Quick Change Artists

PEMBROKE, Mass. (AP) — Father and son exchanged seats in their 1913 touring car in favor of a ride in a more modern convertible in a freak accident involving both cars. Both sailed ahead through the air, with 6-year-old John Richmond deposited in the arms of the convertible's driver, John Swan Jr., of Newton. Father Robert B. Richmond of Winchester was tossed into the back seat of the sports-car. Not a scratch on the boy, only minor injuries for the father—but the Model-T, returning from an outing of antique cars, was badly dented.

A wise old man, who had lived buoyantly through four score years, was asked, "Which is the happiest season in life?" He replied thoughtfully, "When spring comes, and in the soft air the buds are breaking on the trees, and they are covered with blossons, I think, how beautiful is spring! And when the summer comes, and covers the trees and bushes with heavy foliage, and singing birds mingle with the branches, I think, how beautiful is Summer! When Autumn loads them with golden fruit, and their leaves bear the gorgeous tint of frost, I think, how beautiful is Autumn; and when it is sore winter, and there is neither foliage nor fruit, then when I look up through the leafless branches and see, as I can see in no other season, the shining stars of heaven, I think, how beautiful is the Winter of life!"

Young Suitor (beaming happily)—Not so bad. I'm getting some encouragement now.

Imprisoned Mothers Receive Yule Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Santa Claus will bring toys to children of the 51 mothers who are among the inmates at the State Reformatory for Women.

The Salvation Army, for the first time on an experimental basis, has stepped in to help imprisoned mothers play Santa to children 12 and under.

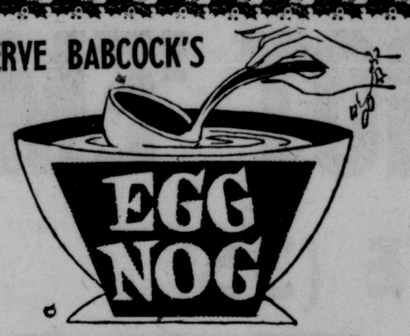

Representatives of the Salvation Army visited the prison at Dwight over the weekend with samples of 14 different toys. Mothers could choose which they wanted, sign the tags and supply addresses of their youngsters. The 51 women have a total of 110 children, from 6 months to 12 years old.

The Army plans to provide the toys, wrap and mail them. No one would know what place they came from.

Defiant Widow Ends 6-Day Strike Over Home Sale

NORTON, Va. (AP) — A "defrosted" but still defiant 56-year-old widow enjoyed a reunion with her sailor son today after ending a six-day sitdown protest Saturday against the sale of her home by public auction.

Mrs. Ella Williams said she had heeded a friendly warning her son Lowell had telephoned Saturday from Great Lakes Naval Station in Illinois:

"Mom, I'm leaving now to fly home. When I get there I'd better not catch you outside."

He didn't. Several hours before the 20-year-old son arrived in Norton, Mrs. Williams had accepted shelter in the home of Roda and Octavia Stidham after nearly six days of camping outside the old family home the county had sold for her debts.

Persistent Pleading

Roda and Octavia—spinster sisters and life-long friends of Mrs. Williams—had to talk, plead and cry before the stubborn 56-year-old widow would heave her snow-swept post.

By the time Mrs. Williams was helped out from under the flimsy canvas shelter she used as a buffer against a full-fledged winter storm, some four inches of snow covered the house, the icy little shelter, and all of the woman's possessions which were scattered about the yard.

In her last hours outdoors, Mrs. Williams had been reported "weak and pale" and with big circles under her eyes. A local doctor and Red Cross officials were prompted to state that she could not live through many more bitter cold nights.

Feeling Better

But after a hot bath, some dinner, and a long restful sleep, Mrs. Williams said she was feeling right fit and chipper.

"I don't have a temperature or even a cold," she told her son.

Mrs. Williams admitted the futility of another outdoor siege—"I was only hurting my health" — but she hasn't conceded that the county was right in selling her house.

"I realize that I was going about it the wrong way," she said. "However, I'm just as determined as ever to go back into that house, and legally, too."

Just how she would go about dissolving a court-ordered public sale remained to be seen.

Rochester Town Will Ask State About Paying Bills

At th December meeting of the town board of the town of Rochester a report on the Erwin Roads projects was presented by Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger and also a list of unpaid claims against the town which were incurred during 1955, 1956 and 1957. Approval of legalized payment of these claims will again be sought through an act of the legislature in 1959.

The town board approved purchase of a pickup truck.

In addition to all members of the town board, Superintendent of Highways Richard T. Gary, Enforcement Officer Raymond Wheeler and Charles Freedman were present.

After minutes of the prior meeting had been approved, Supervisor Terwilliger reported November receipts of $7,829.74 and disbursements of $4,404.41 with a balance as of November 20 in the amount of $14,906.09 in the general fund and receipts of $2,923.65 and disbursements of $14,238.68, leaving a balance of $34,090.75 in the highway fund.

Town Clerk Elsie E. Rider reported total receipts for November as $1,248.40 with fees payable to the supervisor of $142.65. Coaims in the amount of $623.84 were audited and approved for payment from the General fund.

Charles Freedman, who was present at the meeting, asked for consideration on the purchase of all official bonds.

Notice of the tentative State Equalization rate of 20 per cent for town assessment roll completed, verified and filed in 1958 was received by Supervisor Terwilliger since the previous meeting and reported at the December meeting.

Killed in Holdup

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Holdup men finally got a veteran jeweler who once declared "if anyone wants to rob me they'll have to kill me."

The body of Ira C. Faircloth, 71, was found sprawled in his store Sunday. He had been shot twice.

The store had been looted of an undetermined amount of jewelry and cash.

Faircloth had been a frequent target of holdup men. One tried to rob him at knife point but the jeweler shot and captured him.

Moscow Charges Berlin Proposal Ignored by Big 3

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio charged the foreign ministers of the Western Big Three with ignoring the Soviet proposal to make Berlin a demilitarized free city.

The broadcast was the first brief Soviet comment on the foreign ministers' statement in Paris Sunday that their governments would not be forced out of West Berlin and would not do business with the East German regime.

The Soviet radio said the Western communique "bears witness to their unwillingness to allow any change in the abnormal situation in Berlin.

"In essence, it gives no reply to the Soviet proposals."

This was followed by a fresh promise in Pravda to defend Communist East Germany from aggression.

"The Soviet Union will not be hampered by irresponsible threats made by certain Western windbags who declare they will hold a clear road to Berlin with troops and tanks," the party organ said.

"If aggression against the (East) German Democratic Republic were nevertheless carried out, the Soviet Union, as the German Democratic Republic's loyal ally in the Warsaw Treaty, will fulfill its obligations and together with the German Democratic Republic will defend the integrity of her land, water and aerial frontiers."

Pravda's direct reference to East Germany's aerial frontiers could be taken as a warning against any attempt to airlift supplies to West Berlin if it is again cut off from the West.

Western and neutral diplomats in Moscow voiced belief that the sharp tone of new statements from Premier Nikita Khrushchev indicated a possibility of cutting short the six-month period he originally set for negotiations with the West on Berlin.

Seismologist Lists Potential Quake Areas

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Are you on shaky ground?

It could be. A leading seismologist's earthquake risk map of the United States lists five areas in the nation where earth shakes could seriously damage well-constructed buildings.

Dr. Charles F. Richter of the California Institute of Technology lists the areas with this word of caution: Ground conditions vary greatly even in given cities.

Here are Dr. Richter's major risk areas:

California — The San Joaquin and Northern Sacramento valleys, the Imperial Valley, and small scattered areas.

Northwestern New England and New Mexico and southwest Texas.

A belt extending east from the central Mississippi Valley through South Carolina and part of Georgia.

A narrow belt extending south through Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

Richter released the nationwide map in response to repeated requests.

Richter said his map should be taken "as representing a long-term risk to be considered for structures intended to be permanent — or in long-term planning such as developing new townsites or industrial centers."

Sky Vigil

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy is tightening this country's method of detecting unannounced satellites.

Scientists have built a camera they say is capable of discovering and tracking satellites which might spy on the free world.

A bank of nine, they say, could keep constant vigil on the night sky.

Rocky, Nixon View Almost Similar, Keating Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen.-Elect Kenneth B. Keating says any differences between Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller have been considerably exaggerated.

Keating said Sunday that both men had told him this.

"If they had both been serving in the last session of Congress as senators," Keating said, "not over five per cent of their votes would be cast differently."

On the possibility of Rockefeller being a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1960, Keating said:

"I would suppose that right today that is a great wave for Gov. Rockefeller. I can appreciate it because I campaigned with him. I don't believe as of today he is a candidate for president."

Keating, a Republican, appeared on a television program.

On Job for Week, Dies of Blast Burns

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Robert Gueperoux, 20, is dead of burns suffered in an accident on a job he took for one week.

He was burned when an explosion and fire ripped through a service station on Route 50, near Ballston Spa, last month. He was working alone in the station.

Guesperoux, of Ballston Lake, had taken the job on a one-week vacation from his regular employment in the mailing department of the General Electric Co. in Schenectady.

He died Saturday night in Albany Hospital.

15 Overcome by Gas From Leak in Line

TICONDEROGA, N. Y. (AP)—A leak in an underground gas line is blamed for an accident in which 15 men were overcome by chlorine gas in a paper mill.

All were working at the International Paper Co. plant here Saturday night.

Eleven were taken to Moses Ludington Hospital. Nine were released Sunday. The other two were due for release today.

A company spokesman said railroad cars moving in the plant yard apparently disturbed the underground line. The gas leaked into the mill section in which the men were working.

Probing Deaths of Two Infants in Same Area

SALEM, N. Y. (AP) — A pathologist today investigated the deaths of two infants in homes two blocks apart.

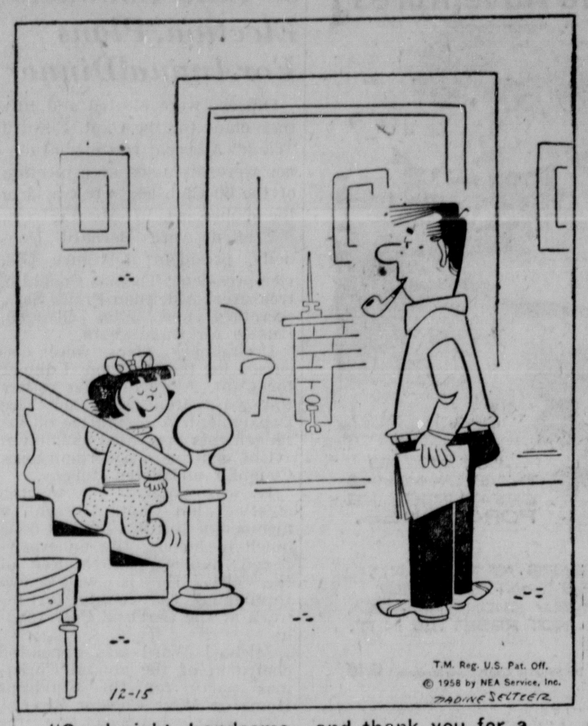

Colleen Sherly Lewis, 2 weeks old, was found dead Sunday morning by her mother, Mrs. Beatrice Lewis. An hour later, Dennis E. Dillon, 2 months, was found dead in his bassinette by his father, Leonard Dillon.

The Lewis baby was found on a studio couch on which she had been sleeping between her mother and sister, Cynthia, 18 months.

State Police said each child had been lying face down. Blankets covered their bodies but not their heads, police said.

A coroner's verdict was withheld pending completion of the examination by Dr. Joseph Lebowich, Washington County pathologist.

15 Vessels Will Try Ice-Jammed Upstate River

MONTREAL (AP)—Fifteen Europe-bound ocean vessels which ventured from the protected waters of Montreal Harbor prepared to try the ice-clogged St. Lawrence River again today.

The British freighters Sunkirk and Norco had made the most progress toward the open water of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. They reached Trois-Rivieres, 90 miles downstream from Montreal, Sunday night. They were expected to make Quebec City, 50 miles further, by tonight.

The ice-breakers D'Iberville — Canada's most powerful—and Ernest Lapointe sliced through the ever-thickening ice in front of the two freighters. Temperatures hovered several degrees above the zero mark.

Once past Quebec City, where the river begins to widen to meet the gulf, the going will be much easier.

Twelve more of the ships were motionless at Lanoraie, 30 miles downstream from Montreal. They have been unable to penetrate the ice since Friday.

Thirteen other ocean ships were berthed in Montreal Harbor, waiting more favorable conditions, and three were held in the Lachine Canal when a Canadian canaller got stuck in ice at the canal's entrance to Montreal Harbor. Officials hoped to get the ships out of the canal today.

POWER PLANT

Your future and the future of America will be shaped by the kind of power generated in the college classroom. Never has our need for great ideas been so pressing as it is today.

Yet the very core of our brainpower plant—the college classroom—is seriously threatened. For a depressingly low salary scale is driving gifted teachers into other fields. And crowded classroom conditions are steadily growing worse.

It's time to put a stop to this nonsense. Won't you help the college of your choice now? Help it keep a qualified faculty and expand its facilities. The returns will be greater than you think.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

Total honesty is rare in humankind.

Philosophers may argue at what age or time the average man is truely most honest.

I have thought this problem through, and I think a man is most honest when he fights against the idea of getting out of bed in the morning to face the problems of the day.

That Tomorrow

I have read often in my lifetime of people who loved what they were doing so much that they could hardly bear to put their cheek against the pillow because tomorrow would be so exciting.

There must be people like this. But in a crowded life I have never met them. The lovers of life that I have met loved today and worried it to death—they took life as it was at the moment in their teeth.

Tomorrow was a century for others.

Certainly I admire the heroes of this world who hate the waste of sleeping and fret against the darkness that denies them the bright opportunity of tomorrow. But I am not one of them.

I am a lifelong and industrious coward myself, a penurious hoarder of now, and would like to stretch the happy leisure of the moment into an unimportant eternity.

In living you have a change of mornings.

Getting up in the morning has always seemed to me the biggest possible mistake a man can make in his lifetime. And he does it day after day, year after year.

So many mornings in a lifetime.

Can you remember sleeping in an upper floor and leaving the heavy quilt-soft warmth of bed to run downstairs in your long-handled underwear and spread your bottom to the red comfort of a stove in the living room?

Or to creep shivering down alone at a cold and lonely hour to light the fire in the stove? Or go into the basement and throw coal into a reluctant furnace and coax its grudging, overnight-dampered loyalty to bright, silent flame again? Remember how strange the house looked, so silent and waiting for the family noise?

These problems of arising in the morning are still only too familiar across the land.

But in the city where the same sun wonders the morning window, and a fellow has the climate of his choice by turning a knob, it seems to me his problem of getting up is no easier.

The today he loved has become yesterday, and the tomorrow he didn't know is now his today, and he has to get up and do something about it. All, as the poet says, is to do again.

It is human to hate to let go what you have known, and it is human not to face up to what you have to do.

Good night, day that I have loved. Hello, ugh, morning. Welcome, stranger, and make yourself at home.

Much as I doubt you now, you'll be a friend by nightfall. And then you will go away.

One License Tab For '59, Must Retain 2 Plates

Although motorists will receive only one 1959 tab when they register their car for next year, both 1958 plates on the vehicle must be retained.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau explained today that regulations require you to keep the front plate on the car next year even though there will be no '59 tab for it.

The single '59 tab issued with next year' registration certificate is to be attached to the lower right hand corner of the rear 1958 plate. The tab may not be used until January 1—except for omnibus, ambulance and school bus tabs which may be used starting December 29. Such vehicles must display tabs starting January 1.

Because next January 31 falls on a Saturday, 1958 passenger and motorcycle plates may be used until midnight Monday, February 2, 1959, without a tab. New Plates are to be issued for motorcycles but all other types of vehicles will use the 1958 plates for another year.

Dealer and transporter 1958 registrations and number plates may be used until midnight, January 10, 1959, while commercial, trailer, suburban and farm vehicle plates are valid until midnight, January 15, 1959, without the validating tab.

The Bureau urges motorists to use the mails as much as possible in renewing their registrations for 1959 and to make their applications early to avoid a last minute rush. Mail transactions take only a few days to complete.

Applications in person may be made at 135 Ontario Street, Albany; 155 Worth Street, New York City; 325 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn; 89-01 Sutphin Boulevard, Jamaica, and at county clerks' offices in other counties.

Pilot Gets Gas On Thruway Area

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Weekend travelers who stopped at the nearby East Schuyler service area of the State Thruway included a pilot who dropped down in a four-passenger plane.

Kirk McFarlin Jr., 28, of Flint, Mich., was enroute from Flint to Boston when he ran low on gas. He brought the plane down Saturday in the truck-parking lot of the area.

The plane was gassed there. A section of fence was then removed and the plane was rolled from the lot onto a dirt road in back of the service area.

McFarlin took off from there in the plane, a Piper Clipper.

StateSays Fifth TB Hospital Is Closing This Year

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Newton Memorial Hospital for tuberculosis at Cassadaga, Chautauqua County, will close Dec. 31, the state health commissioner announced today.

This is the fifth county tuberculosis hospital to be closed in the last year as the incidence of the disease declines. Two state tuberculosis hospitals have been closed in two years.

The commissioner, Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, said Newton Memorial had a capacity of 104 beds and had been operated by Cahutauqua County since 1920.

Tuberculosis care for residents of the county will be provided at the state's J. N. Adam Memorial Hospital at Perrysburg.

Hi-Y Council Is For Giving Tests To State Hunters

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The state should give hunting licenses only to persons who pass qualifying tests, says the Hi-Y Council of New York State.

The council enacted such legislation at its 23rd annual Youth and Government Assembly which ended yesterday.

Hi-Y is a YMCA organization for high school students.

The council, governing body of Hi-Y clubs throughout the state, prescribed that applicants for hunting licenses be given an eye test.

Also required, under the Hi-Y plan, would be tests based on knowledge of first aid, firearms safety, animal identification, compass reading and conservation-hunting regulations.

The assembly approved a bill calling for fluoridation of water supplies of all cities of the state and another for establishment of a state institution to care for unwed mothers.

The youths voted down a measure that would have made flogging a mandatory penalty for men convicted of certain sex crimes, such as rape.

Samuel Johnson of Buffalo was elected president of the Council. He succeeds Denis M. O'Pray of Jamestown.

Other officers elected: Thomas Vischi, White Plains, vice president; Bambi Olmsted, Queens, secretary; Mary Margaret Romano, Buffalo, treasurer, and Robert Alford, Rochester, chaplain.

The three-day meeting was attended by 500 delegates.

Ratify Contract

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Members of the United Auto Workers overwhelmingly ratified Sunday a new three-year contract with the Caterpillar Tractor Co. plant at Decatur, ending a walkout which began Oct. 10.

Levitt Will Ask Measure to Make Payroll Public

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says he will ask the Legislature to enact a measure providing for publication of detailed payroll information on state employes.

He said the measure was designed to assure "proper disbursement of state funds."

Levitt said Sunday his bill would require that the listings contain names, addresses, duties, pay, and places of employment of all state workers, including those of the Legislature.

There has been extensive discussion about state payrolls since newspapers disclosed last winter that legislative payrolls included names of relatives and political associates of legislators.

It also was brought out that some legislative employes were receiving very high salaries and that others were being paid but were not working.

A joint committee of the Republican-controlled Legislature and a special advisory committee have been studying the payroll situation.

Recommendations of those groups will be looked upon far more sympathetically in the Legislature than those of Levitt, who will be the only Democrat in the new state administration.

He was the only member of the Democratic state administration to win re-election.

He said he would submit several other bills to the Legislature. Many cover proposals he has made earlier. Several deal with the state's retirement system.

Our Favorite Beverage

Someone once said that coffee is handled by experts up until the crucial moment of brewing, and then an amateur takes over.

When you stop to think a moment, coffee is America's favorite beverage. It can be the crowning glory of a meal but if you serve poor coffee you can spoil the enjoyment of the best food.

Duncan Hines, America's foremost authority on good eating, who for many years has traveled the length and breadth of America sampling and evaluating the finest in food, has an interesting chapter about coffee in his book, "Desserts." He says that Americans drink more than a hundred billion cups of coffee each year and consumption is still increasing steadily. In the United States, he says, we have many different methods of preparing coffee and some people have developed special techniques of their own to produce coffee unlike anything else wrung from a coffee bean.

Mr. Hines concurs, however, that we do a fairly good job of coffee making. Otherwise, it would never have become the popular drink it has since its introduction in the coffee houses and cafes of Europe more than 300 years ago.

The essentials to producing a good cup of coffee are few but the results are well worth any effort.

Let me pass along some of the tips contained in the book, "Desserts."

First of all, buy a good brand of coffee and the right grind for whatever brewing method you wish to use. Fresh coffee makes the best coffee, so don't store your supply too long. Your coffeemaker should be clean and shiny. Soap has a tendency to cling to your coffeemaker and will spoil the flavor, so be sure your utensil or appliance is well rinsed.

Use cold water and NEVER start with hot or tepid water if you want the best flavor from your coffee. For medium coffee use one and one-half to two tablespoons of coffee per cup and vary it either way for stronger or weaker coffee. Serve your coffee as soon as possible. Cooked coffee often loses its flavor if reheated. If your coffee must stand be sure it is not in contact with the grounds.

Never boil coffee — it releases the acrid oils that make coffee bitter.

If you use a perculator, the coffee should percolate five to 10 minutes for medium strength.

For the holidays, you might want to introduce something new to your guests (be sure to let them know about the ingredients). I'm referring to Cafe Brulot.

To make it, you place in a silver brulot bowl or chafing dish the peel of one orange, cut thin; four sticks of cinnamon; 10 whole cloves and six lumps of sugar. Then take one half cup of brandy and pour over the above mixture. Ignite the brandy and keep ladling until the sugar is dissolved. Gradually add four cups of prepared hot coffee and ladle the mixture until the flame dies. This should be served immediately.

For the demitasse or after-dinner coffee, prepare coffee using double the amount of coffee usually used, and figure on two demitasse servings per measuring cup of water. It is served in small demitasse cups with demitasse spoons on the saucer. It is not necessary to pass cream and sugar as it is usually taken black.

The hostess usually served after-dinner coffee in the living room.

WOMAN PAYS RESTAURANT CHECK

Dear Mrs. Post: When my wife and I take a woman friend of ours for a drive in our car, she often invites us to stop on the way home for something to eat. She picks up the check and pays it. My wife thinks that I should pay the check even though our friend suggested that we stop, and thinks it makes me appear very cheap not to do so. I contend that since she invited us to have something to eat, it is not wrong to allow her to pay the check and furthermore that my paying it would only hurt her feelings. What is your opinion on this?

Answer: A generation ago it would have been unthinkable for a man to allow a woman to pay a restaurant check in his presence. But today so many businesswomen entertaining clients pay the checks as a matter of course that nobody seeing one do this thinks anything about it. If your friend wishes to invite your wife and you to have something to eat, as her guests, you are right in letting her have her way.

Shower Before Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to have a bridal shower for someone who is being married for the second time? I am anxious to have this information.

Answer: Usually showers are not given for a second bride. However, exceptional situations do alter cases and if her friends have a special reason for giving her a shower, and also if she had none before, it would be quite all right.

Seating Three at the Theater

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise the correct seating in a theater when a couple have a young lady guest with them? Heretofore, we have allowed our guest to precede us to her seat, then I followed, then my husband. I have been told that either my husband or our guest should be seated in the center. What is correct in this situation?

Answer: It is best to seat your guest between you and your husband.

Big Pins Rate New Placement

(The Fashion Coordination Institute)

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Empire look has brought about some changes in the way you'll wear your jewelry this winter.

The high bustline calls for pins in new designs placed front and center. Most of these are big pins glowing with color; some offer pendant effects. Tailored pins for daytime clothes are done in textures and they, too, are oversized.

Pearls, rhinestones and crystals are used for the big pins seen on cocktail, dinner and evening clothes. These are matched up with slender, cascading drop earrings.

Pins also appear at the hipline of the new longer-length sweaters. And they appear in new versions of the elongated bar pin, worn in pairs on blouses.

There are even new ways of wearing the new pins. One is to group them in a pyramid of three at the neckline or collar of a simple, straight-lined dress. Another is to slip a pin through a necklace for this year's pendant look.

We show here two examples of the new jewelry designs. One is a big glittering pin with pendant (left) worn to emphasize the neckline of a dark dinner dress. Long earrings reach nearly to the shoulders. For daytime, a tailored pendant pin (right is paired with pendant earrings. Pin is oval in shape.

Emphasize Christian Aspects of Christmas

The distinctively Christian aspects of the Christmas Season are being emphasized by the Saugerties Methodist Church, during December of 1958.

Th members and friends of the church are reminded by their pastor, the Rev. George Werner, that Christmas is a Christian festival, marking the birth of this world's saviour.

The theme which is being observed by the members, in the gifts they give, and in the cards they send, is "Christmas For Christ."

It is acknowledged that the secular emphases during this season, have made great inroads upon the Christmas observance, but the fact remains clear that Christmas was a Holy Day, before it became a holiday.

For this reason, it is necessary for us to remind ourselves, that "Christmas for Christ," is a Christmas for love, joy and peace, the Rev. Mr. Werner said.

Nationalists Say Mao Successor Seen

TAIPEI (AP)—Chinese Nationalist sources predict that Gen. Chu Teh will take over as head of the Red Chinese government from chairman Mao Tze-tung. The Nationalists also say that a face-saving way has been found to ease Mao out as head of the Communist party.

The change reportedly would be made to quiet unrest on the mainland.

The sources made their predictions after reports from Nationalist underground agents that the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party in an urgent session at Hankow had decided to replace Mao, now 65.

Seven Cities Retain Franchises in New York-New Jersey Loop

Staatsburg Out; League Re-Elects Tiano President

Seven of the eight 1958 franchises posted initial entry fees for the 1959 New York-New Jersey Baseball League at the league's annual meeting in Beacon Sunday.

The Staatsburg Knickerbockers withdrew from the league on a conditional basis.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, was re-elected president.

John Babiarz of Poughkeepsie was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Sal Ciaccio of Newburgh was renamed first vice president. Jack Vahl, operator of the championship Nyack Welders, was elected second vice president.

Nick Boonstra of Beacon was reappointed league statistician.

The holdover teams in 1959 will be the Nyack Welders, Spring Valley Bengals, Beacon Braves, Poughkeepsie, Saugerties Dutchmen, Kingston Colonials and Jersey City Colored Cardinals.

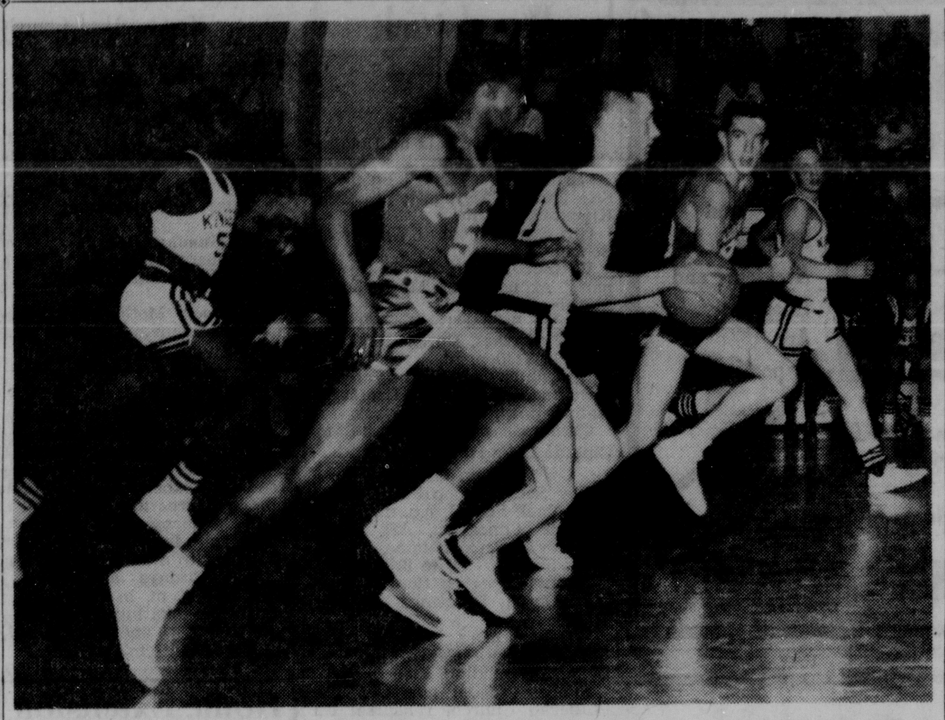

Finish With Balance

Manager Walter Bentson of the Staatsburg club returned the franchise to the league, but notified officials that he would reorganize if it appeared the interstate loop might have to operate with an uneven number of teams.

There are strong indications that Newburgh will return to league next year. The possibility of a nine-team circuit was also discussed by the league directors.

Secretary John Babiarz's financial report indicated an operating balance of $632.16 for the 1958 season. The league returned $598 in cash and awards to its member teams.

The annual by-laws and dinner meeting will be held in Kingston on Sunday, Feb. 15. The second installment of entry fees will be due at that time.

CROSSING THE FINISH LINE — John Kelly of Kingston races down court with the basketball, but he is not in a track meet. The KHS star is just diving in for a layup against Poughkeepsie. Center Hobie Armstrong of the Maroon trails the play while PHS players Glenn Pitcher and Bob Boschen try to converge on Kelly. The other Kingston player in the scene is Joe Uhl. (Freeman photo)

Joey Schmidt Is New Victim

Joey Schmidt, a 212 average kegler in the Albany Classic league, proved to be just an average bowler against Kingstonite Frank "Buster" Ferraro in the weekly television show yesterday at Albany and for the fifth straight week, Ferraro was a winner. Though he fell somewhat below his blistering 239 average of the first four weeks, Ferraro rapped a 678 series to finish far ahead of Schmidt, who struggled all day and could just score 537 for the three games.

Though he scored below 700 for only the second time in his five winning TV efforts, Ferraro could have reached the magic circle with a break in the third game. After starting with a four timer, Buster went on the left side of the pocket in the fifth frame and left the two and five pin situation. With such a big margin, he was careless in shooting for the spare and picked it, leaving the two pin standing.

Schmidt just couldn't get untracked. He started with a 166 effort, having two splits and a miss during the game. His only double came in the tenth frame. Buster, meanwhile, had only one double, in the fifth and sixth frames. However, he did not have a split or a blow and finished with a nifty 198 game.

Split Hurts

A split on a cross hit in the third frame of the second game cost Ferraro because it was sandwiched in between a double and a four timer. He threw nine strikes in the game and rolled 244 while Schmidt had a 199 effort, despite the fact he didn't have one open frame. However, Joey, who throws a big, roundhouse hook, couldn't put two strikes together. Alley nine was his bugaboo.

Buster started the third game with a four timer and then showed the viewers he was human by blowing the 2-5 spare. He then had a spare, strike, spare and a four timer to finish with 236. His opponent had three misses, all one-pin ones, and a double to close with 172 and a 537 series.

Ferraro now has fired series of 719, 733, 690, 708 and 678 in defeating five opponents. Johnny Walther, who lost by only six pins two weeks ago, will be the next opponent this Sunday.

The scores:

Schmidt ..... 166 199 172—537

Scheffel, the great playmaker, turned scorer and had 18 points to lead Katsbaan. Smith hit for 15 and Koenig added 11 as the winners were ahead 19-2 at the quarter. George Holstein made 13 markers for the Backs.

Harry's had 16 points in the final period against only seven for Wimpy's to squeeze out the win. Bob Smith made 14 and Tom Waters 11 for Harry's. Jack Houghtaling and Joe Klonowski kept the losers in the game with 13 markers each.

49-Yard FG Decides:

Giants Clip Cleveland Browns To Force NFL Playoff Contest

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A field goal through the snow by a fellow who wasn't expected to play . . . the keen eyes of a battleworn Texan . . . and what everybody thought was a boner by football's master coach.

They added up today to a bonus for National Football League fans, next Sunday's playoff between the plucky New York Giants and the mighty Cleveland Browns for the Eastern Conference championship.

The two arch rivals tied for the regular season championship with 9-3 records Sunday as Texan Kyle Rote set up a touchdown with 10 minutes left, and hobbled Pat Summerall booted a 49-yard field goal with two minutes remaining to give New York a 13-10 victory. A tie would have given Cleveland the title.

The winner of next Sunday's playoff will play host to the Western champion Baltimore Colts Dec. 28 in the pro title game.

The other NFL clubs have completed their seasons. Baltimore lost 21-12 to San Francisco Sunday.

Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears tied for second in the West with 8-4 marks as the Rams closed out with a 34-20 decision over Green Bay and the Bears defeated the Detroit Lions 21-16. Washington blanked Philadelphia 20-0 in Sunday's other game. Pittsbrugh, No. 3 in the East, finished Saturday with a 38-21 victory over the Chicago Cards.

Boner by Brown

It's doubtful the Giants would be still alive, if it hadn't been for a call by Paul Brown, the coach of pro football's greatest organization.

Leading 10-3 midway in the third period, the Browns drove to the New York 13 behind the great Jimmy Brown—who gained 148 yards in 26 rushes. With fourth down and five to go, Lou (The toe) Groza stepped back to the 20 for his fourth field goal try of the game. He had missed twice, hit once—from the 22.

But instead of kicking, Brown had called for a fake. Bobby Freeman took the snap from center, jumped up and took off around left end. He ran full into Giants' linebacker Harland Svare, who threw him for an eight-yard loss.

After an exchange of kicks and a Milt Plum fumble, the Giants' Frank Gifford fired a 39-yard pass to Rote to the Cleveland 6 on a play Rote called when he spotted a weakness in the Browns' pass defense. A running play lost a yard before Gifford passed to Bob Schnelker in the end zone for a touchdown. Summerall's conversion made it 10-10.

Wobbly Kick

Four minutes later, the Giants drove from their 30 to Cleveland's 25. On fourth down, and with 4½ minutes remaining, Summerall missed a field goal from the 33. It looked as though the comeback had been nailed, but two minutes later the Browns' Dick Deschaine, soundly rushed by the Giants' defense, got off a wobbly 22-yard kick that went out of bounds on the Cleveland 43.

Three passes went awry before Summerall sent his booming field goal soaring through the snow and over the uprights. Two minutes and seven seconds showed on the clock.

Passes for TD

San Francisco made it a fond farewell for retiring Coach Frankie Albert with veteran quarterback Y. A. Tittle engineering three touchdown drives. J. D. Smith bolted for two second half TDs at the end of long 49ers drives.

The Colts only touchdown came on a Johnny Unitas to Jim Mutscheller pass which carried 38 yards late in the final quarter. It was the 29th consecutive game in which Unitas had tossed for a touchdown, padding his NFL record.

Green Bay made it a struggle for the Rams and only a brilliant passing foray by Billy Wade brought Los Angeles the victory. Wade pitched scoring strikes to Del Shofner and Jon Arnett for 43 and 75 yards.

The Bears scored twice in the final quarter against the Lions, who had a 16-7 third period lead. With three minutes remaining, Willie Galimore rambled 36 yards for the clinching TD.

The Eagle shutout, first for Washington since 1955, also boosted the Skins into fourth place in the East. Eddie LeBaron, battling for the league's passing title, unofficially clinched it when he shot a 71-yarder to Bill Anderson for a last quarter score.

HVBL Action:

Phil Versace Hits 300 Game, B. Ferraro Blasts 715 Series

Poughkeepsie ace Phil Versace achieved a bowler's dream at the Ellenville Bowlomat alleys Saturday night, crashing a 300 in a Hudson Valley league match. The Dutchess Recreation star posted 12 strikes in his second game as his teammates lost twice in a high scoring struggle against Channel Masters.

Frank "Buster" Ferraro, the hottest bowler in Kingston, set a season's record for high individual series by blasting a 715 series at the Bowlorama against the Middletown Merchants. His Forst Formost teammates also slugged the high single game this season, a whooping 1135. The Recs had an 1134 single Saturday night.

Versace, who averaged 197 in the World's Invitational tournament in Chicago, becomes the first bowler in nine years to hit a perfect game in the HVBL. Larry Weishaupt of Kingston achieved the feat on January 30, 1949. Versace opened with a 191 effort and finished with 212 for a 703 series.

The Recs, who had a big margin before the weekend matches, dropped three of six games and saw the lead sliced to only four games over Ellenville. Jones Dairy, which won four of six games, is only six games back and Forst Formost, which captured five of six, is only seven games back.

Ferraro, who has been throwing nothing but strikes in recent weeks, shot 254 - 218 - 243 - 715 against Middletown Saturday night to lead his team to a three game sweep. Scores were 993-1135-997-3125. Tom Carlino slugged 240-224-205-669 and Larry Petersen had 215-237-204-656.

Sunday night the locals won two contests from Orange Recreation keglers at Walden. Petersen led with 601 and Ferarro slipped to 585 in the low scoring match. Frank Brink had 607 for the losers.

Jones Wins Four

The Dairymen rolled only 2740 at Walden but managed to win a pair. Jerry Oster was high with 588 as both teams had trouble getting strikes. However, last night at the Bowlerama, Chris Gallo fired 214-208-255-677, Jack Ferraro had 193-213-209-615 and John Schatzel scored 153-232-222-607 as the Jones boys had a 3045 triple and won two games from Liberty. Charley Schoonmaker led the visitors with 244-180-222-646.

The Kingston Five had a lost weekend. It was blanked by Ellenville as the Channel Masters had Tom Bilyeu shoot 228-203-190-621 and Sam Fisher 203-220-214-607. George Shufeldt had 615 on games of 199-205-211 for Kingston. The locals won a game against Orange Recreation in a low scoring match. Ralph Garofola led with a 568 series.

Poughkeepsie ran into trouble over the weekend. At Ellenville Saturday night, the league leaders dropped a pair despite the 300-703 by Versace. Sam Fisher topped Phil by a pin as he rolled 197-230-277-704. Bilyeu had 611, Frank Bandiero 634 and Frank Greco 618. George Baird made 610, Dick Rhea 622 and Jake Charter 601 for the losers. Dutchess won the middle game, 1034-969 but lost the first and third contests, 1070-890 and 1074-1046.

Sunday at Newburgh, Charles Men's Shop won the middle game with a 1056 score. Jake Charter led Poughkeepsie with 217-183-225-625. Versace fell to 583. John Shier shot 619. Gordon Mead 615 and Wally Gerken 608 for the Hilly City five.

U. S. Net Aces Slate Matches

PERTH, Australia (AP) — U.S. Davis Cup Captain Perry Jones today ordered a series of test matches among his four team members to determine singles assignments for the interzone tennis finals against the Italians this weekend.

Pressure battles under tournament conditions were scheduled to start today, but were postponed until Tuesday at the request of Ham Richardson, America's No. 1 ranked player. Richardson asked for a day off to rest.

Jones said that Richardson will play Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, Tuesday and Peruvian Alex Olmedo will take on Earl Buchholz Jr., 18-year-old member of the team from St. Louis. Both matches will be best two-of-three affairs.

The next day's pairings will be juggled, with Richardson meeting Olmedo and MacKay playing Buchholz.

Jones said the result of the head-to-head matches would not bind him in the selection of singles players.

Syracuse Advancing In Pro Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The sizzling Syracuse Nationals certainly are extremists in the National Basketball Assn. The Nats lost eight straight only to take seven victories in a row.

The Nats now are within two games of co-leaders Boston and New York in the Eastern Division race after defeating the Detroit Pistons 101-95 in a nationally televised game Sunday.

Saturday night, Syracuse turned back the Philadelphia Warriors 115-100. The loss was Philadelphia's fifth straight and eighth in nine games.

In Sunday's other game, the New York Knicks moved into a first place tie with the idle Boston Celtics by shading the Minneapolis Lakers 100-99. The Knicks bowed to the St. Louis Hawks, Western leaders, 108-94 in Saturday night game.

Larry Costello and Dolph Shayes each netted 23 points as Syracuse broke Detroit's winning streak at four and pushed the runner-up Pistons three games behind St. Louis.

A three-point play by Richie Guerin with 57 seconds left gave New York its squeaker over the Lakers, who suffered their fourth defeat in a row. Guerin topped the New Yorkers with 25 points and Ken Sears contributed 24.

It's Official, Ted Took Crown

CHICAGO (AP) —The fact that Boston's remarkable Ted Williams last season captured his sixth American League batting crown with a .328 mark now is certified by official league hitting statistics.

Thumpin' Ted's Red Sox teammate, Pete Runnels, was second with .322, while nine others, batting 477 or more times—the minimum for title consideration—also were .300 or better hitters.

Mickey Mantle of the world champion New York Yankees led the junior circuit in homers with 42; in total bases with 307; and in runs scored with 127.

Besides slamming 41 homers, Cleveland's Rocky Colavito also batted .303 and had 113 runs batted-in, second to the 122 by Boston's Jackie Jensen, the leagues most valuable player.

Chicago's Nellie Fox again led in total hits, 187, while other departmental leaders included: two-baggers, Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, 39; triples, Vic Power, Cleveland, 10; and stolen bases, Luis Apari 10; and stolen bases, Luis Aparicio, Chicago, 29.

The Yankees won team batting honors for the second consecutive year with .268. The Yankees also clouted the most homers, 164, as league homer production increased 33 over 1957 with a 1,057 total.

College Cage Tournaments Slated to Start This Week

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

This coming weekend heralds the start of college basketball's holiday tournaments. The spotlight is on the South.

The Kentucky Invitational will be played at Lexington and the Blue Grass Festival at Louisville.

Other tournaments scheduled in the South are the Birmingham (Ala.) Classic and the Citadel Invitational at Charleston, S.C.

Kentucky, the nation's second-ranking team in last week's Associated Press poll, is the host at Lexington. In first-round pairings Friday night the Wildcats meet Ohio State after West Virginia plays Oklahoma State.

Notre Dame takes on North Carolina and Northwestern faces Louisville in the Blue Grass Festival Friday night. At Birmingham it's Alabama vs. Texas A&M and Auburn vs. Wyoming. Florida State plays Miami and Georgia meets The Citadel in the Citadel Invitational.

Wildcats Home

Kentucky, unbeaten in five games, is home against Maryland tonight. The Wildcats thumped seventh-ranked St. Louis 76-57 Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised game.

Unheralded Virginia stunned fourth-ranked West Virginia 75-72 Saturday, snapping the Mountaineers' winning streak at five.

Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1 team, will be out to keep its record unblemished. The Bearcats play the College of Pacific at home Wednesday and visit St. Louis Saturday.

Third-ranked Kansas State went West over the weekend with favorable results, although the Wildcats had to scrap to beat California 68-65 Friday and San Francisco 53-52 Saturday for a 4-0 record.

Kansas State plays three this week, starting with a game at Brigham Young tonight.

Another surprise, besides West Virginia's reversal was Wisconsin's 56-54 victory over 11th-ranked Notre Dame Saturday. The Badgers had gone 11 games without a victory over a two-season span.

Two Losses

It also was a lost weekend for Kansas, pegged No. 7. Jayhawks, lost twice on the West Coast, bowing to UCLA 72-61 Friday and dropping a 68-55 verdict to Southern California Saturday.

Mississippi State, No. 8, was the only other member of the Top 10 to see action Saturday. The Maroons nosed out Murray (Ky.) 63-62 for their fifth consecutive success.

LeBaron Wins Passing Title In Pro League

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Consistency won the 1958 National Football League passing title for Eddie Le Baron.

The sawed-off Washington Redskins' tosser finished the regular season Sunday with one of the smallest yardage totals by air among NFL quarterbacks.

But he beat 'em all for average gain with an unofficial 9.41 yards on 79 completions in 145 attempts. And that's the thing that paid off.

"I'll bet you hear some more nollering to change the system," Le Baron said.

Le Baron is perfectly satisfied with the system of ranking passers by average gain for toss rather than total yardage.

Le Baron connected on 7 of 17 for 164 yards Sunday, including one pass for 71 yards to Bill Anderson. That bomb capped the Redskins' 20-0 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Final official statistics haven't been compiled, but Le Baron's total overhead yardage of 1,365 is likely to be exceeded by all but half a dozen of the NFL's top 15 passers. He has thrown less frequently than any of them since the Redskins concentrated on the rush rather than the pass.

Next season probably will be Le Baron's last in pro football.

"That's the way I feel now," the former College of the Pacific star said. He wants to get started on his law career.

He's near the head of his class at George Washington Law School.

Syracuse Gridders Head for the South

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University's bowl-bound football squad leaves New York State snows behind tomorrow and heads for the South and outdoor training.

Syracuse will meet Oklahoma Jan. 1 in the Orange Bowl.

The northern team will fly to Raleigh, N. C., where it will drill on the campus of North Carolina State.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder planned to begin contact drills immediately after arrival tomorrow.

He said Sunday the team had fallen behind in practice because of bad weather.

Queen Victoria once sent a command to Buffalo Bill to give a special performance for her. She liked it so much that she demanded a second "command performance."

Ski-Jumping Season Starts

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y. (AP) —Two solid days of events ushered in a new season of ski-jumping competition at Bear Mountain over the weekend.

Arthur Tokle of Lake Telemark, N. J., won the Torger Tokle Memorial tourney—named in honor of his brother—with leaps of 152 and 158 feet Sunday.

Tokle scored 221.6 points. Einar Dholen, University of New Hampshire, was second with 153 and 152 for 213.0 points. Art Devlin, Lake Placid, was third with 142 and 141 feet for 209.9 points.

Duke Schneider of St. Lawrence University won the Class C meet as he soared 117 and 124 feet.

On Saturday, Devlin won the Franklin D. Roosevelt Jumpoff Trophy on the basis of his performance throughout the day. His best leap was 146 in that event.

Schneider, with 128 and 123, won the Class C on Saturday also.

Members of Gang Reform; Making Good, Report Says

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The King Cobras, who reformed publicly 10 months ago, have made it stick.

They're the juvenile gang members who gave a "restitution dinner" last February after some of them took part in a grocery burglary.

The dinner netted $133.08 to more than repay the grocer. A judge gave them another chance.

"They're making good," said James L. White, executive director of Neighborhood House, Inc., the social service agency that helped them with the public repayment dinner.

"Not one boy has been in trouble with the law since."

The King Cobras gang has been dissolved and the youths have gone separate ways.

The answer, says White, was "redirection."

"Everyone has weaknesses—but he has strengths too. What we have done is build on their strengths."

Two of the boys organized a dance band. Several others made athletic teams at their schools. Another has been elected to his school's student council.

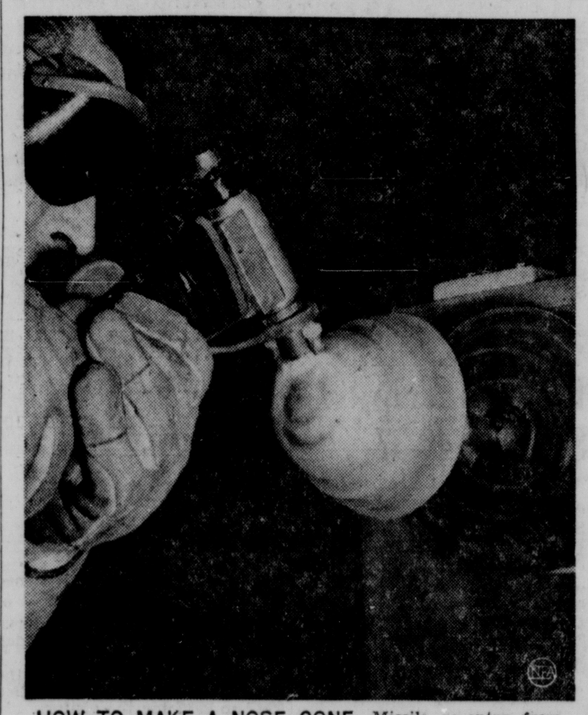

SHORT NOTICE—This street sign seems to be sinking into the ground in the Richmond, Va., suburb of Lakeside. The midget markers are designed to eliminate neck-craning by motorists.

ULSTER HAS SKATING RINK—This skating rink in the Town of Ulster was popular over the weekend as youngsters gathered to enjoy the winter sport. The rink on Esopus Avenue was made possible through the efforts of Ulster Hose Company No. 5. Children may use it after school. Lights go on at 6 p. m. and are turned off at 9 p. m. Saturdays and Sundays there will be all-day skating when the ice is good. (Freeman photo)

COMPARABLE SPACE MONKEY—Lt. Matthew Yarczower holds squirrel monkey at Bethesda, Md., similar to the monkey the U. S. Army sent into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Dec. 13 in nose cone of a Jupiter Missile. The flying specimen was lost after the Army said the missile flight was successful. (Defense Department Photo via AP Wirephoto).

HOW TO MAKE A NOSE CONE—Missile re-entry from space into the dense atmosphere of the earth calls for a nose cone that can resist terrific heat. A coating of tungsten, which has a melting point of over 6,000 degrees F., is shown being applied to a cone by a flame-coating process made possible by a high-heat arc torch. The tungsten particles, still in fluid or plastic state, strike the cone at near-sonic speed, are cooled at once by carbon dioxide, and form a hard, dense surface that bonds perfectly.

MANLY TOUCH— Martin, 4, comforts Helen, his 2-year-old traveling companian, upon arrival by plane in New York. Youngsters are Greek orphans here for adoption.

Armory Theater

NEW YORK (AP)—One of New York's landmarks, the turreted Seventh Regiment Armory, is the theater's latest haven.

A new producing group plans to present weekend performances in an Armory hall which has been fitted with a stage and seats for 225 spectators. The first program planned is a double bill of short works by William Butler Yeats.

Ice Rink Draws Many in Ulster, Firemen in Charge

Hundreds of adults and children are using the new ice skating rink on Esopus Avenue, Town of Ulster, constructed this fall by volunteers of Ulster Hose Company No. 5.

The company decided last June to build the rink on a piece of property it owned about a half mile from Albany Avenue Extension.

President Alfrederick Kilmer of the fire company appointed Paul Werner to head the committee. Firemen received the cooperation of the Rock Construction Co. and James Decicco, blacktop contractor, who provided bulldozers for the project. Firemen devoted their time and skills in operating the machines and pushing back and leveling the swampy land, preparing a basin which could be flooded.

Building Provided

Poles were erected and floodlights installed for night skating. Through the generosity of a resident of the township a small building was installed for use by skaters. The shack was transported by a low-bed trailer provided by the Rock Construction Co. The shack has light and heat.

It is reported that firemen are now looking for a sound system to provide music.

Teen-agers have reportedly been helpful to firemen in providing kindling and wood and keeping the fire going. They have also helped to scrape the ice and flood the rink.

Named for Werner

At the last meeting of the fire company it was voted to name the rink after Chairman Werner who devoted so much time and effort to the project.

Many residents, who have been pleased with the project, have sent in contributions to the fire company in appreciation, it was reported.

Children are permitted to skate after school. Lights are lit at 6 p. m. and extinguished at 9 p. m. Skating all day Saturday and Sunday. The company is attempting to provide supervision at the rink at all times.

From Curse to Worse

NEW YORK (AP)—An actor never knows what sort of assignment will turn up. Bartell LaRue a while back made a recording for a disc company of a series of 19th Century temperance lectures, collectively entitled "The Curse of Drink."

Now LaRue has been cast in the new Broadway play, "Night Circus." His role? Portraying a drunkard.

Think It Through

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Capital punishment is when Uncle taxes you to get the capital to go into business in competition with you, and then taxes whatever profits you may make in order to pay his losses.

Capital punishment is when Uncle, by inflating the currency, which deflates the dollar, reduces the purchasing power of every Government bond you have invested your capital in.

MR. HUTTON

By the same deft form of pickpocketry, Uncle reduces the purchasing power of all working capital of every business.

And furthermore, capital punishment is when Uncle does not permit you to set aside, tax free, enough depreciation reserves to replace your tools machinery and equipment when they wear out.

You have to make up the difference in cost out of your capital which Uncle taxes as if it were genuine income.

Uncle knows better, but he does it just the same.

Uncle has no lawful power to tax capital as such. The 16th Amendment gave him the power to tax income only.

Nevertheless Uncle taxes capital in many devious ways.

Some folks call this New Fairdealism. Others call it Modern Republicanism.

Uncle borrows your savings and promises to pay you so much per cent on his bond. But when his bond falls due, Uncle makes you kick back via his income tax from 20 to 91% of the interest he promised.

Neighbor, no borrower has that privilege.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Before the days of photography it was up to the artist to portray what he saw as information and amusement for the coming generations. Of course it was the artist's ability and his slant and philosophy of life which he was able to put on canvas, wood and paper in whatever medium he had. No doubt many of these works of art are still around on walls or attics in various houses by artists whose names never appeared in print. It would be interesting to see such a group from Kingston and Ulster County. No doubt there are some which are signed, and some just sketches of local scenes.

I have the Albany Times-Union, of Sunday Oct. 26, 1958 and they have a page called "Up state Living." One illustrated article called, "Rediscovered Paintings, Tell Area's Early History" by Jeanne Talbot, a staff writer. It seems Mrs. Louis C. Jones an expert on American art from Cooperstown, was the "instigator" in searching out local artists of the 1700 and 1800's. With a group of five New York State Museums, including the Albany's Institute of History of Art, finally after three years they found some 49 good items, seven of which are given in the article.

It seems that only 11 of these artists had academic training, some just painted for pleasure, but the ones shown on that page, are all excellent. One artist's name is Alburtis D. O. Browere of Catskill who painted Mrs. McCormick's General Store in his village.

No doubt there are endless number of paintings of our Hudson River, done by so-called amateurs. In this article they show a painting of 1860, by James Hart, prominent in the Hudson River landscape school. The article says that James Hart and Arthur Tait became well known through lithographs of Currier and Ives. Perhaps some of their work was right here in Kingston in the Ulster County Savings Institution recently. The 49 paintings mentioned in that article were to be shown at the Institute of History and Art, Albany until Nov. 20 and then were to go on tour of New York State, so perhaps they will be shown in Kingston some time.

Art is a language by itself and everyone sees the same scene, building or person differently. I remember when I studied at the Art Students' League, New York, sometimes there were more than two dozen students in one class. Everyone would be painting a portrait from one model and although each painting resembled the sitter each one was different. If one can draw, one is seldom lonesome, or bored, whether at a lecture, concert or dinner or waiting for someone, as long as he has a pencil and the back of an envelope. I found sketches my father made in various places and knowing his sense of humor I knew he had fun. People interested him, how they walked, how they acted, how they bragged. He said little but by his sketches he put them down on paper forever, so I can recognize them today. He drew with humor and strictly for his own pleasure, on backs of envelopes and scraps of paper and in margins of pads.

Pilots Sought By Marine Corps

College graduates seeking a career in aviation are being offered the opportunity to become Marine Corps pilots through membership in the 24th class of Marine Corps Aviation Officers Candidate Course, which convenes at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., in February.

The announcement was made by T/Sgt. W. L. Stowell, NCO in charge of the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Saugerties.

Completion of the 10-week Officers Candidate Course qualifies men for commissions as Marine Corps Second Lieutenants and also for assignment to flight school at Pensacola, Fla.

While at Quantico, members of the aviation program will undergo flight physical examinations and receive training in leadership, military tactics and other subjects necessary to reach the goal of a Marine Corps Commission. Upon graduation from Quantico, men receive their Gold Bars and are transferred to Pensacola for their flight training. T/Sgt. Stowell also pointed out that the men go through their flight training as Officers not as Cadets.

At flight school the newly commissioned officers will receive extensive training in navigation, aerology, enginering, communications, engine operation, and other flying skills, as well as aircraft carrier training.

After graduation from flight school, students receive the gold wings of a naval aviator. Specialized training in jets, internal combustion or helicopter aircraft, as members of Marine Squadrons, follows Flight school.

Applications for enrollment in the 24th Aviation Officers Candidate Course must be submitted to Headquarters Marine Corps by Feb. 9, 1959.

College graduates between the ages of 17 and 26 may obtain further information concerning this program by contacting Sgt. Stowell at the post office building in Saugerties.

Now It's Matchmates in Suit, Topcoat

BY DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

Styled in California are this suit and topcoat. Bronze tone in all-wool suit, left, is a new color. Suit combines extreme light weight with unusual styling details, can be bought with a topcoat in the same fabric. Such a topper is the "shorty," right, featuring slanted, flapped pockets. Both are by Louis Roth.

NEW YORK—(NEA) —From out of California, whence originates so much that is new and fresh, have come two new ideas in the suit field.

One is simply a color—bronze. It's a darkish bronze, in the brown family, but completely new and compelling. Louis Roth, one of the bright California designers, has taken it and made it into a suit with ideas as new as the color. The fabric is all wool.

The lapel has higher notches. The pockets are slanted—almost hacking pockets — but flapless. The sleeves have cuffs, but sewn down. There are no side vents. It adds up to an original jacket, especially in the intriguing bronze tone.

Roth even goes a step further, which brings us to the second new idea. And that's a matching topcoat. You can often find a suit and a topcoat which are close matches, but Roth's pair are made from identical fabric.

The suit is the same as the model described above. The topper is short, the new, just-above-knee length. Like the suit, it's a wool-worsted, light in weight to suit the California climate. The sleeve cuffs are extra wide and the side vents are extra long. The pockets are slanted and flapped. There's heavy welt stitching around the cuffs, pockets and bottom of the coat.

Maybe the time will come when you'll buy a suit with two pairs of topcoats.

* * *

With crisper weather here, it might be appropriate to give a thought to your gloves. Most men file their gloves away with the first sign of spring and, come fall, dig them out again and never give them another thought.

But there are new things in gloves this season, especially in the handsome collection of French leather gloves being shown currently.

One of the newest of the new things is a sparkling color, brass. (With a bronze suit and brass gloves, you're well on the way to being on your mettle.) The new share has one nice advantage—it goes well with everything.

There are other new colors, too — colors with exotic names like coffee bean, taupe and walnut (all shades of brown); ginger and maple (in the russet family); and golden tones called autumn leaf and sunflower.

* * *

The French use leathers such as ostrich, sueded calfskin or lambskin and glace-finish lambskin. They hand-sew them and add a dash of traditional French style.

There are gloves this season that are a trifle longer than usual, with a slight flare at the cuff. There are others with the opening vent a bit off center for variety's sake. Some have decorative stitching; one such has a line of black stitching down a brass suede glove, extending from the third finger to the cuff.

Sometimes the French imports combine two leathers, as in a brown ostrich number with a glace lambskin palm. And there's one jazzy job with a brown suede palm setting off a glove that is otherwise completely braided brown suede.

You have to hand it to the French. And, if you do, they'll put a handsome glove on it.

Turncoat Is Reported Ready to Return Home

HONG KONG (AP) — American turncoat Richard G. Corden of East Providence, R.I., is reported ready to go home after nearly five years voluntary exile in Red China.

Red Cross sources said Corden, 31, who was the ringleader of the 21 Korean War turncoats, was expected to arrive at the Hong Kong border Friday.

The U.S. consulate general and the Hong Kong government said they had no official confirmation of the report.

NegroesAreUrged By Minister to Use Boycott Plan

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Negro minister defied police warnings Sunday and urged Negroes to boycott segregated Birmingham buses.

The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth told his congregation: "You sin when you yield to the bus company's sin of segregation. I call upon you to use passive resistance to defeat this evil."

He was one of 20 Negro ministers who had said they would use their Sunday sermons to denounce Birmingham's bus segregation law. Apparently most of them used some variation of this topic.

No one was arrested although Police Commissioner Eugene Conner warned recently that anyone, "white or black," leading an attempt to boycott Birmingham buses would be jailed.

Shuttlesworth was recently convicted of violating the city's bus seating law and sentenced to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine. He has filed an appeal. Twelve other Negroes also were convicted and received suspended sentencs.
